HARVEY GETS BRITISH NOTE

However, Kingdom Wants Slater And Staff Replaced
By Others

By Associated Press
London — Ambassador Harvey, it is learned from an authoritative quarter, has received a note from the British government with regard to the case of the American consulate at New Castle, closed last summer, stating that Great Britain is ready to compromise by withdrawing the charges against the consulate officials of discrimination against British shipping if the United States will reopen the consulate and replace Consul Slater later and Vice Consul Brooks with others.

London — It was understood the note also suggests that Great Britain and the United States come to some sort of an agreement with regard to the scope which hereafter shall be permitted American consular officials in drumming up trade for the United States.

QUESTION IMPORTANT
The question thus assumes a much broader aspect than the New Castle consulate issue as it affects a large number of consulates throughout the United Kingdom.

Any agreement with regard to the scope of activities of the American consuls would obviously apply to the British consuls in America is pointed out.

It will be recalled that at the time the charges were preferred against the New Castle consulate it was understood that they had originated in British shipping circles which were incensed because the American consuls were getting too much trade for American lines by what were alleged to be unfair methods involving duress.

This came at a time when the American consuls, it was said, had been especially requested to do everything possible to assist American shipping.

Ambassador Harvey who is understood to have received the note several days ago declined Wednesday to discuss it and he cancelled a meeting with the American correspondents scheduled for Wednesday without assigning any reason.

'BOOZE' MAIN VOTING ISSUE IN NEW JERSEY

Governor Edwards Leading Fight Against Senator
Frelinghuysen

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1922, Post Pub. Co.
Trenton, N. J. — "Booze" or to phrase it more delicately—the wet and dry issue—is the whole campaign in the state of New Jersey.

EDWARDS

Governor Edwards, whose idea of prohibition is to make the state as "wet as the Atlantic ocean," is running on the Democratic ticket against Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen, Republican, who when questioned on the subject of his wine cellar makes the promise that when it is all used up he will buy no more.

Broadly speaking, New Jersey has the feeling that if the two parties had thought less about prohibition and more about the greater problems of state somebody might have been nominated by both. There isn't, as a matter of fact, much to choose between the Republican and Democrat so far as profundity of thought or senatorial ability is concerned. The voters know that Mr. Frelinghuysen's whole background is that of an ultra-conservative and that Mr. Edwards' fantastic ideas on public office are exemplified in his defiant attitude toward the Eighteenth amendment.

Vittorio Rolandi Ricci Turns In Resignation To Premier Mussolini

SFORZA IS ASKED TO STAY
Rome Returning To Normalcy
—Irregulars Go Home
After Triumph

Rome — Vittorio Rolandi Ricci, Italian ambassador at Washington has presented his resignation, like his colleagues Count Sforza, ambassador at Paris, and senator Frassati, ambassador at Berlin, wishing to leave Premier Mussolini free to choose his own trusted men for such important posts.

Wednesday developed Premier Mussolini had sent a reply to the letter of resignation from Count Sforza which was received Tuesday, which was too approaching him and asking him to remain at his post.

Premier Mussolini's letter to Count Sforza read: "I feel bound to regard as a scarcely friendly and very ill-timed action, your decision to resign before you have official knowledge of the direction I shall take in the matter of foreign policy, which I shall lay before the chamber, and which will in any case not be simply the sum total of sentiments, as you mistakenly suppose."

"I therefore, formally invite you to remain at your post and not to embarrass a government which represents the loftiest expression of the national conscience."

BACK TO NORMALCY

Rome — Italy will be on the road to normalcy Wednesday after a week that saw the younger generation rise to power and in a great triumph overthrow the older politicians.

Tens of thousands of the vigorous young Fascisti and their enthusiastic admirers who accompanied them here from all over the land, were on the way back to their homes Wednesday.

Tuesday the irregulars was the thrill of a real Roman triumph after Dr. Benito Mussolini and his new Fascist ministry had taken their oath before the sovereign. As soon as this formal ceremony had ended the black shirted boys and men who brought about the rise of Mussolini, marched as victors through the ancient streets of the city, crowded with a vast concourse that for the day doubled the population of Rome.

Wednesday the flush of triumph gave way to the drab business of toil, individual and national. Dr. Mussolini was on the job early and he said he was going to see to it that everybody else engaged in the business of the nation followed suit. He made it plain that he was going to rule with an iron hand, that Italy might the sooner be restored to a better economic basis and a more powerful place in international affairs.

For the moment at least, communism has no part in the life of Italy. The onslaught of the Fascisti has rendered all radicalism a paralyzing blow. Carrying their battle into the labor temples and the meeting places and their antagonists, the Fascisti have seized the records and rosters and burned them.

Politically the chief topic in Italy is what the fortune of the new cabinet will be when it goes before the chamber of deputies. One thing is certain, if Mussolini's government does not receive a majority in the chamber he will have parliament dissolved and then the Fascisti will take their cause to the country. Mussolini made this clear last Monday when he built a new cabinet at the request of the king.

Minister of Industry, Rossi, in agreement with the minister of the treasury, has taken steps for the immediate reopening of the bourse, it was semi-officially announced Wednesday.

Mrs. Hall Ignorant Of Husband's Slayer

By Associated Press
New Brunswick, N. J. — Breaking the silence for the first time, Mrs. Frances N. Hall, today told reporters that she was absolutely ignorant of how her husband, Rev. Edward W. Hall, came to meet his death with Mrs. Eleanor H. Mills, choir singer on the Phillips farm September 14.

The rector's wife at an interview at her home arranged by her attorney, asserted that she had absolutely no knowledge of the shooting, that she was not on the farm the night of the double shooting, that she bore no enmity toward either Dr. Hall or Mrs. Mills and that she had no knowledge of any love letters having passed between them.

Asked if she were holding anything back in order to protect any one near and dear to her, she replied: "Positively no." She asserted she still believed her husband had been true to her. Asked her feeling toward Mrs. Mills, she replied: "I don't know what to say."

Asked why she had offered no reward for solution of the crime she replied: "Mrs. Hall said she knew of nothing in the life of her husband which could have involved him in a murder and that she was absolutely ignorant of any motive that could have existed for the crime."

Asked what she would have done if she had known of any intimacy existing between Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills, the rector's wife said: "I think it would be awful."

When she was asked if she did not wish to see the murderer punished, she replied: "I don't wish to see any one punished."

She explained that she meant that she had no vindictive feeling toward any one and that she wished the murderer apprehended only because she did not think it safe for society to have him at large.

"I would have spoken to him," she said. "I would have spoken to him."

Asked if she believed in divorce she declined to answer.

The questions started with one which concerned the story told by Mrs. Jane Gibson, pig raiser, who claims to have been on the Phillips farm the night of the murders and to have been an eye witness to the double slaying.

Q. Have you any comment to make, Mrs. Hall, on that part of Mrs. Gibson's statement in which she said you were present on the Phillips farm on the night of September 14?

A. What comment could I make — of course, that was not so, and that is all.

Q. You weren't there?

A. I certainly was not.

"Ghost Ball" Given Place In Lawrence Football Practice

Yearlings Use Northwestern Plays Against Regulars—New Danger Of Ineligibility Hovers Over Several Heads

The "ghost ball" is playing a prominent role at Lawrence field this week as Coach H. D. McChesney is driving his men past the daylight house in an effort to whip them into shape for the game with Northwestern college Saturday afternoon at Appleton.

The white-washed pigskin is one way of beating the sun which seems to be retreating earlier with each day's practice.

Tuesday night the Lawrentians were stacked up against the freshmen team. The yearlings used Northwestern tricks and the regulars found some trouble in breaking up the line plays and plunges. Kotai and Basing led the offensive work. Currie, Goan and Ruhlman also worked in the backfield. Right tackle Kieseling showed improved form in the line.

Hovering over the heads of the Lawrence squad is a brand new menace—scholastic ineligibility. Exams of the first six weeks' work are just over and reports have it that two or three stars are in danger of losing their berths. However, until reports from the professors are assembled it will be unknown whether these men will be able to continue to play.

HOLY NAME TEAMS BOWL HIGH SCORES

W. Behing Leads With 247 Pins In Single Game—Verbeten Gets 236.

Holy Name Society teams, rolling on the Kimberly alleys, set a new season's record with the number of scores above 200. The honors go to W. Behing who topped over 247 pins, and to J. Verbeten and F. Behling who were close on his heels. The Bears would have had a much easier victory had Peter Fox been in regular form, according to information from Kimberly. Scores of 122, 160 and 151 by Mr. Fox were surprising. The following are the team scores:

ROD AND REEL By Dixie Carroll

MORE ABOUT THE MUSKY

To the fellow who has never muskied much, but who has a deep buried ambition to take a wallop at the end of the game, and also the very day musky enthusiast, the following line of info gathered from the experiences of 50 of the boys who landed musky weighing from 20 to 61 pounds, will make mighty good food to paste on the inside of your tackle box, and, incidentally, save you from making a line of whorping big spoons and lures in the outfit when you take your initial attempt at a close up view of this old barbarian in his home waters.

For many years the general method of coaxing the musky to gaff has been trolling, with fairly stiff and strong tackle, but the swan song of these 50 big fins indicates that the right tackle and casting are coming to the front as the real sporting game for musky. Against 22 caught by trolling, there looms up 28 caught by casting, and a majority of six is not at all bad for an end of the game that is practically new. And of those landed through casting, 17 choked in steel rods, nine on bait casting, eight on bamboo, while two had the extreme honor of being fought to a finish with light bamboo fly rods.

Do you get the drift, oldtimer, of the fight these musky made on the off end of a six ounce fly rod? It's a pan's sized job to land a musky on a fly rod, and to trim one on a little old whippy fly rod surely calls for clever work and skill against brute strength and cunning of the musky. Fifty minutes of wonderful fight was the record of one of these flyrod battles of tackle skill against musky will before the old dog would "say uncle." To that kind of sport I don't think it's sure something, boy, some fighting.

Of the baits and lures dished up to these favored 50, we find that 21 took chance on the spoon, 13 preferred artificial plugs, eight ended it all on suckers or shiners, four were introduced to Mr. Frog, two took the pork hunk (without the hams), and two all for the bass fly and spinner.

FAKE STOCK DEALERS HAVE "SUCKER LIST"

By Associated Press

Madison — "Sucker lists" with names of persons easily inveigled into buying worthless stock and other investments, are being prepared and exchanged between promoters in Wisconsin, Marshall Cousins, commissioner of banking, says in his last report.

"The promoters seeking to sell stocks, bonds and other investments, exchange and sell lists of names, which they designate 'sucker lists,'" Mr. Cousins said. "One promoter, after cleaning up a neighborhood, feels desirable to leave the locality before the worthlessness of the stocks or bonds he has sold is discovered, but he realizes it is of value to the men who follow him to know who are his victims."

"Consequently, the dealing and adding in the 'sucker lists' has developed. In some instances it is understood that the promoters have been solicited by these sharks to supply them with lists for a consideration."

HIGH SQUAD TO STACK UP AGAINST LAWRENCE FROSH

Scrimmage To Be Held At Brandt's Park Wednesday Night

Entering the third day of practice for the Menominee high school football game, Coach Arthur Denney will send his men against the Lawrence freshmen eleven for one or two hours' scrimmage late Wednesday afternoon.

Everything possible to get the Blue and Orange gridders in tip top condition to make victory over the Michiganders more certain is being done. Marinette's victory isn't easily forgotten. If the high school squad and the fans had their way another game with Marinette would be played before the season is over. Appleton insists that it was beaten through early misfortune breaks but it would never happen again.

MAY RULE OUT GAME

Charges that Marinette is using players over the high school football age are still going rounds and reports have it that other cities, which met the strong Saw Mill aggregation, are making the same complaints but not only that, further investigation is being conducted and if it is proven that Marinette's half back, Lund, is really over 20 years, Marinette faces the possibility of having all of the games played in the state ruled out by the state board of control.

Appleton would like nothing better than beat Menominee by a big score and then have Menominee beat Marinette.

Judging by the way the Appleton gridders spent scrimmage hours at Brandt's park Monday and Tuesday night, the Wolverines will face a stiff battle.

BONINI IS ILL

The Blue and Orange squad is slightly bruised but none seriously injured, with the exception of Bonini. The strenuous contest last Saturday has bunged up the big center in such a manner that he was unable to attend his classes so far this week. Cecil Furringer is at the pivot position but Furringer will be unable to play against Menominee on account of his age.

"Bill" Tappert, whose age has been disputed by Appleton's opponents but according to a sworn statement by his own family, he is eligible to play and will take part in the Menominee Appleton contest. Tappert will play fullback and Capt. "Pete" Briese will be shifted to right half, "Clem" Gerou, who has been going strong this season, will be on the left side. Verstegen will probably get a position in the line for the coming game unless it will be found necessary to use him to relieve the backfield workers.

Dr. W. J. Foote, veteran athlete, assisted the high school coaches by guiding the second team in its defense against the first team. While the regulars found it easy going in mid-field, the "All Stars" held the first team in the shadows of the goal posts.

BIG CROWD TO SEE LAWRENCE-RIPON PLAY

Ripon—Armistice day, Nov. 11, is to be celebrated at Ripon college with homecoming and a football game between Ripon and Lawrence college as the main events. It is expected that the largest gathering of old Ripon students in the history of the school will be seen on the campus Nov. 11.

As an appropriate service for the observance of Armistice day, Silas Evans president of the school said that a very attractive service by the schools reserve officers' training corps which is comprised of 175 men will be held. They will recite the Gettysburg address in unison, he said. Address will be given with reference to Americanism and certain historic traditions and future prospects of American life.

Real 'Grid' Stars Like To Play The Game

BY AUBREY DEVINE
All American 1921, Captain Iowa 1921, "Big Ten" Champions

A genuine liking for football is a most necessary quality if a player hopes to be a star.

True, some football players who reach stardom who are not crazy about the strenuous game. Unusual natural ability makes it possible. However, such players would be of far greater value to their team if they really liked the sport.

With the liking for the game goes the determination or will to do. Some will call it nerve, others will use the trifle vulgar yet very appropriate word, "guts."

MUST LIKE THE GAME

Success in college football rests upon the same broad foundation as does success in any other line of endeavor. If a man does not enjoy playing football for its own sake and is not possessed of the will power to perfect himself in the game to the very limit of his capacity to do so, he can no more expect to reap the rewards of a successful football career than he could expect to be successful in any other line of work in which he might engage in a half-hearted manner. In other words, he must be willing to pay the price.

Finally, to sum it all up in answer to the question, "Why high school stars do not make good in college," we may say that some never were stars, while other real stars lost their athletic ability before they get to college, either because they were "burned out" in high school by too much work, or because they are just naturally athletic in their teens and "old" men in their twenties.

GIRLS AND DATES

Still other high school stars fail in college because the diversified life of college causes them to scatter their attention and energies upon so many and varied interests.

Not the least of these varied interests are girls and "dates." As a result the class room and the football field are equally neglected, and the erstwhile high school star becomes a mediocre man on the last string of the squad.

In brief, granting that the high school star has the potentialities requisite for him to make the varsity, he must devote his undivided attention to a two part curriculum of studies and football, at least during the football season. If he would continue his high school success in football on through his college career.

GREEN BAY WANTS CHAMPIONSHIP TILT

Would Like To Have Marinette And Other Undeclared Teams Argue It Out

Green Bay—A number of teams fell by the wayside on Saturday in the race for the state scholastic gridiron championship. Edgerton defeated Wisconsin High of Madison 14 to 13. La Crosse ran wild over Eau Claire 57 to 20 in a free scoring argument, and Marinette scored an easy win at Appleton 19 to 0. Stevens Point kept her slate clear by beating Wisconsin Rapids 12 to 0 and Superior Central carried an over Superior Dewey 56 to 0. Wausau nosed out Oshkosh 19 to 13 and Monroe piled up a fair count on Evansville, Wausau trampled on Rhinelander 26 to 0 and Fondy upset the dealer by coming through with a 14 to 0 win against Ripon. Sheboygan also has a clean slate.

As the dope now stands Marinette, Superior Central, Edgerton, and La Crosse stand out as the leading teams in the state. The other undefeated eleven of course, are entitled to consideration but compared scores show that they do not rank as well up as the above mentioned pigskin chasers.

Efforts to decide the state championship title this year are already under way and it is quite possible that one of the games which will have a direct bearing on the title will be played in Green Bay. Negotiations are now under way to book a game for Marinette here on Saturday Nov. 25, with one of the other undefeated teams of the state. The matter has been placed before the W. I. A. A. and executive action is looked for within the next ten days.

SCHULTZ WANTS TO LOCATE HERE

Believes Fans Will Welcome Him If He Can Whip Freberg Next Tuesday

There must be something attractive about Appleton to wrestlers. According to Elmer Johnston, who is promoting the Freberg-Schultz bout here next Tuesday night, Schultz, who claims to be the original "German Oak," wants to locate in Appleton if he can dispose of Freberg. He figures he is just as good as the big Chicago grappler and believes he will be a regular drawing card if he can win the Swede.

Freberg also plans to locate here but Schultz thinks he won't be very popular if he gets trimmed in his first bout so he is planning to take his place.

Schultz has met some of the best grapplers in the game. Plestina was one of the very few men who downed him and he gave Plestina a terrible argument.

Promoter Johnston is arranging a card of preliminaries for the first show.

"Cozy" Dolan, Assistant Manager Of Giants, Back In Oshkosh For Winter

Has Nothing But Praise For Manager McGraw—Generalship Won World Series, He Asserts

Oshkosh—It's great for the kids in this town, "Cozy" Alvin Dolan, one of the "brains" and assistant managers of the New York Giants, world champions, is back "home" for the winter and he's already answering a myriad of questions that the youngsters are sure to fire.

Mr. and Mrs. Dolan arrived in Oshkosh recently, making the trip by motor. It required one week to make the distance and they stopped in several cities enroute. Mr. Dolan has nothing but praise for Manager John McGraw.

"This was the greatest series in years," Dolan stated, "and was the greatest victory of Manager McGraw's life, for it meant the winning of the second successive championship. The Yankees were outgeneralized and outplayed from start to finish and Manager McGraw's great judgment was the deciding factor."

TRICKED THE YANKS

"Many people claimed the Yankees did stupid base running. That is the way it may have appeared on the surface to some but they failed to realize that Manager McGraw had taught his men plays and tricks whereby they might trap the Yankees. The fact that the Yankees walked into those traps is credit to Manager McGraw rather than discredit to the Yankees."

"The people thought the Giants had no pitchers because the big sport writers of the country told them so. They did not think of looking at the last ten or fifteen games of the American league race to see what the Yankees had. If I am not mistaken, the Yankees had one pitcher who during that time pitched an entire game and won it by himself. They failed to take into consideration that the Giants took the lead and held it with their pitchers working hard every day. Perhaps they were deceived by Manager McGraw's judgment. Several times during the season he replaced the pitcher with a batter and then sent someone else in to finish the game."

GROH WAS A STAR

"Nevertheless, the Giants outplayed the Yankees. They hit over 300 for the series, while as I remember it the Yankees hit around 150. The Giants had two more errors than the Yankees but their errors did not come at critical times."

"Of course, everyone in Oshkosh is interested in Heinie Groh, who started in the old Wisconsin-Illinois league. During the last two months of the season, he was playing on his nerve as he had wrenched his knee. When the pennant had been won, Manager McGraw gave him a vacation in which to get rested up. This helped him wonderfully and enabled him to participate in the series. Everyone who read the papers knows that Groh was one of the stars of the series."

"COZY" OPTIMISTIC

Dolan was optimistic over the prospects for the 1923 season. "We will have our entire infield intact and in the outfield we will have Meusel in left, Young in right and a new man, O'Connell, in center. O'Connell was purchased from the San Francisco club last year for $75,000, with the understanding that he would report next spring. He finished this season with a batting average of .352 and is an excellent fielder. We also have some eight or ten new pitchers and six or seven new outfielders to look over, so from the way it looks, the other teams will have a hard time keeping the Giants out of first place during the coming year."

Speaks at New London

W. S. Ford, director of the vocational school, delivered an address before the Rotary club of New London at its last meeting. His subject was "Americanism."

A. R. Michelstetter of Hutchinson, Kan., who is visiting relatives here, submitted to a slight operation at St. Elizabeth hospital.

The FLAMING JEWEL

EPISODE SEVEN
Climax of the Dump
CHAPTER I

When Mike Clinch bade Hal Smith return to the Dump and take care of Eve, Smith already had decided to go there.

Somewhere in Clinch's Dump was hidden the Flaming Jewel. Now was his time to search for it.

There were two other reasons why he should go back. One of them was that Everett was loose. If anything had called Trooper Stormont away, Eve would be alone in the house. And nobody on earth could forecast what a coward like Everett might attempt.

But there was another and more serious reason for returning to Clinch's. Clinch, blood mad, was headed for Drowned Valley with his men, to stop both ends of that vast morass before Quintana and his gang could get out.

It was evident that neither Clinch nor any of his men—although their very lives depended upon familiarity with the wilderness—knew that a third exit from Drowned Valley existed.

And that was why Darragh, or Hal Smith, finally decided to return to Star-Bond because if Quintana had been told or had discovered that cautious way out of Drowned Valley, he might so strangle Clinch's Dump.

And, supposing Stormont was still there how long could one State Trooper stand off Quintana's gang?

No sooner had Clinch and his motley followers disappeared in the dusk than Smith, pushing his basket-park, fished out a big electric torch, flashed it tentatively, and then, realising the pack and taking his rifle in his left hand, he set off on a easy swimming stride.

For a long while he did not dare to use his torch, now he was obliged to.

He shined the ground at his feet, elevated the torch with infinite precaution, throwing a fan-shaped light over the stretch of sink he had suspected and—lo and behold!—it flashed the flat, wet, pebbly rock on either side. Here Death gleamed its slimy trap at his very feet.

Then, as if moved taking his bearings with his torch, far ahead in the darkness the light flashed, went out, flashed no more, and was extinguished.

Quintana! Smith's was working like lightning. But instinct guided him before his brain took command. He leveled his torch and repeated the three signal flashes. Then, in dark need, he came to swift conclusion.

For three hundred yards, counting his strides, he continued on. Then, in total darkness, he pocketed the torch, slid a cartridge into the breach of his rifle, slung the weapon, pulled out a handkerchief, and tied it across his face under the eyes.

He continued to move forward. After a little while his ear caught a slight splash ahead. Suddenly a glare of light enveloped him.

"Is it you, Harry Beck?" Instantly led again while wits worked madly: "Harry Beck is two miles back on guard. Where is Sord?"

The silence became terrible. Once the glaring light in front moved, then became fixed. There was a light splashing. Instantly Smith realized that the man in front had set his torch in a tree-crotch and was now covering somewhere behind a leveled weapon.

His voice came presently. "He! Drap-a-tha-a gun damn quick!" Smith bent, eagerly, and laid his rifle on a mossy rock.

"Now, you there! Why you want Sord? Eh?"

"I'll tell Sord, not you," retorted Smith coolly. "You listen to me, whoever you are. I'm from Sord's office in New York. I'm Abrams. The police are on their way here to find Quintana."

A movement might have meant death, but he calmly rummaged for a cigarette, lighted it, blew a cloud insolently toward the white glare ahead. Then he took another chance:

"I guess you're Nick Salzar, aren't you?"

"S! I am Salzar. Who the dev' are you?"

"I'm Eddie Abrams, Sord's lawyer. My business is to find my client. If you stop me you'll go to prison—the whole gang of you—Sord, Quintana, Fiquet, Sanchez, Georgides and Harry Beck—and you!"

After a dead silence: "Maybe you'll go to the chair too!"

It was the third chance he took. There was a dreadful stillness in the woods. Finally came a slight series of splashes: the crunch of heavy boots on rock.

"For why you come here eh?" demanded Salzar, in a less aggressive manner. "Whata da matt' eh?"

"Well," said Smith, "if you've got to know, there are people from Es-thonia in New York. If you understand that."

"Christ! When do they arrive?"

"A week ago. Sord's place is in the hands of the police. I couldn't stop them. They've got his safe and all his papers. City, State and Federal officers are looking for him. The Constabulary rode into Ghost Lake yesterday. Now, don't you think you'd better lead me to Sord?"

"Christ!" exclaimed Salzar. "Sord is a mile ahead with the others. Damn! Damn! Me, how should I know what is to be done? Me, I have my orders from Quintana. What I do, eh?"

"Christ! What to do? What you say I should do, eh, Abrams?"

A new fear had succeeded the old one—that was evident—and Salzar came forward into the light of his own fixed torch—a well-knit figure in slouch hat, gray shirt, and gray breeches, and wearing a red bandanna over the lower part of his face. He carried a heavy rifle.

Smith said slowly: "If Quintana is marching on Clinch's he's marching into a trap."

"The State Troopers are there," said Smith. "They'll get him sure."

"Christ!" faltered Salzar. "—then they are cobbles—Quintana. Sord, everybody! S!"

He glared at Smith, started to move, came back and took his torch, made a violent gesture with it which drenched the woods with goblin light.

"You stop a Quintana, maybe. You tella heem he is the big a fool!" You tella heem Nick Salzar is no damn fool. No! Adios, my friend Abrams. I beat it. I save my skin!"

"Salzar!" Smith called sharply. The man halted and looked around. "Come back!"

Salzar hesitated, turned finally slouched toward him.

Smith laid aside his pack and rifle and, as Salzar came up, he quietly took his weapon from him and laid it beside his own.

"Whata da matt'?" demanded Salzar, astonished. "Why you take my gun?"

Smith measured him. They were well matched.

"Set your torch in that crotch," he said.

Salzar puzzled and impatient, demanded to know why. Smith took both torches, set them opposite each other and drew Salzar into the white glare.

"Now," he said, "you dirty deceiver, I am going to try to kill you clean. Look out for yourself!"

For a second Salzar stood rooted in blank astonishment.

"I'm one of Clinch's men," said Smith. "But I can't stick a knife in your back, at that! Now, take care of yourself if you can—"

His voice died in his throat: Salzar was on him, clawing, hitting, kicking, striving to strangle him, to wrestle him off his feet. Smith reeled staggering under the sheer rush of the man, almost blinded by blows, clutched bewildered in Salzar's panther grip.

"I feel you! I feel you! Damn! Damn!" panted Salzar, in convulsive fury as Smith freed his left arm and struck him in the face.

Now, on the narrow, wet and slippery strip of rock they swayed to and fro, murderously interlocked, their heavy boots splashing, battling with limbs and body.

Twice Salzar forced Smith out ward over the sink, trying to end it, but could not free himself.

Once, too, he managed to get at a hidden knife, drag it out and stab at head and throat; but Smith caught the fist that wielded it, forced back the arm, held it while Salzar screamed at him, lunging at his face with bared teeth.

Suddenly the end came: Salzar's body heaved upward, sprawled for an instant in the dazzling glare, hurtled over Smith's head and fell into the sink with a crashing splash.

Frantically he thrashed there, spluttering and floundering in darkness. He made no outcry. Probably he had landed head first.

In a moment only a vague heaving came from the unseen ooze.

Smith, exhausted, drenched with sweat, leaned against a tamarack, sickened.

After all sound had ceased he straightened up with an effort. Presently he bent and recovered Salzar's red bandanna and his hat, lifted his own rifle and pack and struggled into the harness. Then, kicking Salzar's rifle overboard, he unfastened both torches, pocketed one, and started on in a flood of ghostly light.

Bobbed Hair For Granny Is Aim Of Anti-Corset League; Leader Is 62

Flapper - Grandmother Starts Crusade To Banish Unnatural Contrivances Affected By Women

The anti-corset crusade is on. The crusade has been on and the corset off for some time as far as flappers were concerned, but the mothers and grandmothers are now to be saved from the menace of the constricted waistline.

That's the purpose of the Anna Lee Anti-Corset Society, which has just been incorporated in Indianapolis.

Mrs. Anna Hoeltke Lee, founder of the society, is almost 62 years old, but that's just the age when women most need to be emancipated from any sign of restraining slays, she says, and wears a straight one-piece dress herself.

For the younger members of the society she has prepared a costume consisting of regulation gymnasium bloomers that fall just below the knee, a large sized child's "body waist" to which the bloomers button at the hip-line and a middie blouse over all.

ALL TRIMMINGS, TOO

Low-heeled shoes and bobbed hair are other essentials of the anti-corset array, and when the weather permits, Mrs. Lee says she rolls her silk hose, too.

"Why not?" she asked. "I've got just as pretty a knee as my grand-daughter."

Two dances a day and a diet of raw vegetables and fruit juices are also means used by the anti-corset leader "to keep young."

"Why should women of today fade at 30, grow fat and shapeless at 40 and shrivel up at 50?" demands Mrs. Lee. "Why have we so few beautiful women?"

"Because custom and fashion are at war with nature. Fashion has made it impossible for women to be comfortable. To be thoroughly comfortable from head to foot means the elimination of corsets or any garment which binds the waist, high heels, high collars, long dress-skirts and long hair."

CORSET HABIT PERNICIOUS

"After 12 years of careful study on this subject, I am convinced that the corset habit has done more to ruin the health, beauty and morals of the human race than the liquor or tobacco habit."

Along with the corsets, Mrs. Lee would have women discard long skirts and long hair.

Mrs. Lee is grandmother of seven, she wears her gray hair bobbed and curled, her skirts just below the knee, her hose rolled and her waist unrestrained by any form of slays.

"Long hair is unsanitary," she says. "It is most unattractive at middle age. With short hair the middle-aged woman can retain the appearance of youth for many years."

"It forces the time when she has to get up and women will be a universal custom. God speed the day!"

Household Hints

THREE-PIECE COSTUMES

Three-piece costumes of maroon and velveteen have straight-line frocks with tops of broad crepe de chine, and have long necklines and practically no trimming.

ORIENTAL EMBROIDERY

Hindu and Chinese prints and embroideries are greatly in demand for smart millinery. Very clever copies of old designs are being turned out by American silk mills.

SILVER AND SCARLET

With a shimmering gown of silver cloth an evening coat of red velvet, banded and cuffed with black lynx is effectively worn.

VELVET AND LACE

A striking dinner gown has a top of chiffon velvet in black and the skirt is composed entirely of ruffles of chantilly lace, making three tiers. The waistline is long and is outlined with a velvet sash with long ends.

CONTRASTING MATERIAL

Combination frocks are the mode this season, except in the very tailored frocks, the bodice is usually a different material from the skirt, or the coat contrasts with the dress. The contrast is more frequently of material than of color.

LONDON TRIES OUT RUBBER PAVEMENTS

By Associated Press

London—Streets paved with gold were a fiction in the days of Dick Whittington. London's first Lord Mayor, but streets paved with rubber are distinct possibilities of the near future. A test is being made in St. Martins with rubber blocks instead of wood and asphalt, and although the former is far more expensive, it is hoped it will last 25 years as against 12 to 14 years for wood block paving.

SOCIETY SEEKING WOMAN 'RAFFLES'

Special to Post-Crescent

London—Britain's wealthy aristocracy is up in arms against the indiscriminate introduction into society of pretty women.

A series of mysterious robberies by a band of expert cracksmen, believed to be led by a newcomer in society who is a Miss Raffles in disguise, is attracting nation-wide attention.

The latest and biggest haul of jewels beyond monetary price has been made from the castle of the Earl and Countess of Jersey—all in spite of night watchmen, padlocked iron bars, and the latest thing in mechanical burglar alarms.

Society is combing the list of pretty women recently ushered into society in an effort to solve the mystery.

For some time one of the professions of the "new poor"—broken-down aristocrats with great lineage but slender purses—has been to introduce the new rich and other strangers into the charmed circle of society, for handsome cash considerations.

One of the persons thus introduced is believed to be the mysterious Miss Raffles.

The Jersey robbery occurred several nights after a great Red Cross fete at Middleton Park, the ancestral home near Bicester. Visitors were taken through the castle, and were even shown the rooms where the jewels were kept, and some of these were taken out and displayed.

Several mornings later it was discovered that a band of cracksmen had entered the castle in spite of all the precautions to make the place impenetrable. Even the dogs, turned loose in the great hall, were no protection. Candles in great silver candelabra lighted the rooms while the thieves worked, and in the morning they were still burning.

The jewel chests were rifled of all the antique and historic rings, medallions, bracelets, watches and snuff boxes. Many of these had been in the Jersey family for generations. Only the tiniest clue was found—that a woman had played a leading part in the robbery.

RUSSIA ABOLISHING REVOLUTIONARY COURTS

By Associated Press

Moscow—Revolutionary tribunals which have been administering justice in Soviet Russia for the last five years are to be abolished, according to announcement by N. Krylenko, state prosecutor and chairman of the supreme tribunal. Ordinary and unified courts of justice will be organized instead. The revolutionary tribunals came into existence at the time of the Red Terror in 1918. They were a kind of revolutionary deathstriking weapon outside court jurisdiction, with power similar to those of the Cheka. They acted by special court law, which gave them wide scope both in court procedure and in delivering sentence behind closed doors.

BLOUSED COATS

Bloused coats are very smart with the band low on the hips. Contrary to what one would expect, these are very becoming to the slightly stout figure and give an illusion of slenderness.

WOMAN JUDGE

"First Virginia woman to become a judge." Is the distinction won by Mrs. Kerr Morehead Harris, Danville, Va. She has been appointed judge of the juvenile and domestic relations court, a position vested with broad powers.

FOR DINNER WEAR

The object of this hat is not to provide ventilation but to make an interesting setting for a pretty face. It achieved what it started out to do, you'll note.

To a crown of black velvet is joined a brim of fashionable width composed of a coarse mesh of chenille.

It is designed for restaurant or dinner wear, and is the ideal accompaniment for a sleeveless frock of black velvet.

Cinderella Sally

Chapter 18 — Failure

By Zoo Beckley

The rehearsals for the next few days brought relief neither to Wain nor Sally.

He pleaded, argued, bullied and coaxed, but the moment Sally was lifted into the great flower basket and started on her floating ride into the huge theater she felt the panic of one suddenly torn from shadows and thrust into glaring light.

Even with the theater empty she felt the eyes of the chorus contemptuously upon her and of the principals watching critically.

Her clash with Wain had in some unaccountable way made him less harsh with her, but it was more the tolerance of indifference than because he had faith in her ability.

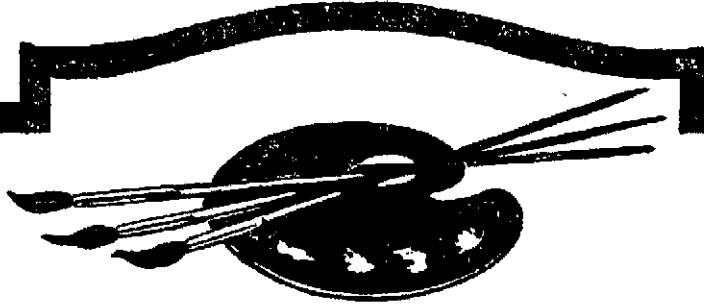

Sally would call for strength from the very depths of her soul—and the courage she succeeded in summoning made her look like a Christian martyr going to her fiery ordeal. Taken with the gesture of throwing out posies of old-fashioned flowers to a happy populace, the effect was absurd, grotesque.

Wain, in despair, was ready to abandon the number when the genius that made Golden the leading producer of his kind prompted him to try it out anyway.

"You never can tell," he muttered to Wain. "She's damn pretty, and she may perk up in the excitement of the next night."

And so it ten days after her arrival and a campaign of publicity that terrified Sally still more, it was announced that "the prettiest girl in the country's country" would appear in a special number.

World-Famous Art

You need not visit the Louvre, the British Museum, the Vatican nor the New York Metropolitan to admire the world's famous masterpieces. One or more are reproduced in almost every issue of

THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL

And the faithfulness of color and design is almost beyond belief. Thus you may not only see them; you may frame and own them at very small cost.

For example, let me tell you what you'll enjoy in the December issue alone. There's a full-page reproduction of Raphael's Sistine Madonna, rated by critics as the world's greatest picture. Color engravings for this beautiful reproduction were made especially for The Journal by a famous foreign engraver. Copping, illustrator of the Copping Bible, gives you his interpretation of "The Sermon on the Mount." Edmond Dulac, R.A., illustrates "The Feast of St. Stephen," the origin of most of our best-loved Christmas carols. And the Christmas cover—a Southern, created by a new method—is doubtless the most elaborate and striking ever made for any magazine. But art is only one of the many Journal features. Its fiction (often illustrated in full color), articles, fashion news, needlework—all are reasons why you should treat yourself—or a friend—to 12 big issues for $1.50.

Here Are A Few Hints On Baking Bread And Rolls

BY BERTHA SHAPLEIGH

Of Columbia University

To use a common, often-heard expression, "bread is the staff of life." To make a loaf of bread which is sweet, well-risen, well-baked and of good flavor is a great accomplishment and gives one a most satisfied feeling.

We hear much about the desirability of every housewife's making her own bread. If she can supply her family with bread which is well-baked, and cannot buy good bread, let her by all means make it.

But the large bakeries can bake bread much more satisfactorily than the individual. The ingredients are weighed, the mixing is done by machinery, and the large ovens bake the loaves uniformly well.

The housewife can relieve the monotony of plain raised bread by making biscuits, muffins, corn meal bread, pop-overs and the like. In these the raising is done quickly by the use of eggs, baking powder or soda combined with sour milk or buttermilk.

USING SOUR MILK

Housewives who have a good deal of milk which becomes sour or who have buttermilk would like to use more in cooking but do not always have good results.

The best way is to use soda enough to sweeten the milk, say one-half teaspoon of soda, to one cup of milk and then use baking powder in the same amount as if sweet milk were being used.

Variety can be secured by adding to the plain yeast dough sugar, spice, butter, eggs, fruits or nuts and shaping into rolls or loaves.

Some of the dough may be kept in the ice box, and used from day to day for several days, having hot plain or sweet rolls often with little trouble. Or when shaping the loaves knead into the dough for one loaf some chopped nuts or raisins or both. This bread will be much appreciated especially by the children.

USE MORE YEAST

It has been found by experienced bread-makers that it is better to shorten the lengths of time for fermentation by using more yeast, this causing a better result in the quality of the bread.

But when a housewife is careful and gives bread a good deal of thought and attention, the result is good with a smaller quantity of yeast.

The old method of setting bread by night is sometimes not advisable as the temperature of the room is likely to change during the night.

Nothing but a few bugs and a mosquito or two.

"Now remember! I'll have you well in spite of yourself."

Phil and Munch and Mrs. Bat did a jig when they heard the news.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE

Among certain South American tribes the man goes to live with his wife and her family after marriage.

He is treated as a stranger until the birth of the first child, when he is received on a less formal basis.

In case of the death of his wife it is necessary for him to marry her sister or nearest female relative.

IF YOU ARE WELL BREED

You are careful to see that your dining table is always well appointed. The silver should always be carefully polished, the glassware shining and the linen spotless.

It is much easier to give a successful dinner or luncheon if one is sure that all the appointments are attended to, so that one may devote one's attention entirely to the guests and their pleasure.

FEATHER HAT

Cow feathers are popular with milliners and are used on large and small hats. A large hat, recently seen on the stage, was composed entirely of the feathers laid on perfectly flat and giving a certain iridescent effect.

Instant Quaker Oats

Cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes

Oats Are Ready

Before the man is dressed

There is now an Instant Quaker Oats, perfected by our experts. It cooks in from 3 to 5 minutes—far quicker than any other oats you can buy. And it cooks to perfection.

If that means anything to you, it's another reason for always getting Quaker Oats.

The same exquisite flavor

Quaker Oats are world-famed for their flavor. Millions of oat lovers send over seas to get them. In every country this is the favorite brand.

They are flaked from queen grains only—just the rich, plump, flavory oats. All flavorless grains are discarded. A bushel of choice oats yields but ten pounds of these delicious flakes.

Instant Quaker employs those same queen grains. But the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and are partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly.

Now you have your choice at equal price. Regular Quaker with its matchless flavor. Instant Quaker with that same flavor, plus five-minute cooking.

But you get neither of those qualities unless you insist on the Quaker brand.

TOO MUCH MONEY

A farmer with his wife and two children entered one of our large department stores the other day and was deeply absorbed in buying heavy, brilliantly colored wool sweaters, with caps to match. He was highly elated over the appearance of the sweaters on the children and had practically decided to purchase them when he asked:

"How much are they?" The clerk replied $7.50. Where upon he exclaimed, "Oh my Gawd, ain't cha got none for a dollar and a half?"

TRICK DIDN'T WORK

While on my way to work the other day I spied a lady stealing apples off of a farmer's wagon in front of her house. After reaching the house with the apples she deposited them in a fancy flower basket on her porch and hastened down the street. In the meantime the farmer came around the back of the house and walked up the step when he spied his samples. He rang the bell several times and receiving no answer he picked up the basket and emptied it into his wagon. After tossing the basket back on the lawn, he crawled onto his wagon and drove away. Much to my amusement.

HALLOWEEN FRANK

As I was walking down Dudgeon street Monday night I saw some boys tie the hind wheel of a car to the springs then let the air out of all four tires. A little later the owner came out of the house and started the engine and finding the car would not move, got out and looked at the hind wheel. He took the rope off then, drove a little ways before he noticed the tires were flat. He did not say much but pumped them up again.

A PLAYFUL PUP

While walking east on College-ave the other day I saw a lady in front of me drop her purse. She was just about to pick it up when a little dog, going west, grabbed the purse by the handle and ran away with it. The chase which ensued would have been a rather embarrassing one for the owner of the purse if a young man coming towards her hadn't grasped the situation and rescued the purse for her.

HOME SHORTAGE

One night I saw a group of boys take a for sale sign out of a vacant lot and put it on Mr. Marshall's lawn. The next morning I heard Mr. Marshall telling his neighbors that some kids had put a sign in his yard and that he had already had six calls from people wanting to buy his house.

BIG CAR DAMAGED

This accident occurred on North-st. between Union and Bateman-sts. Saturday afternoon—a beautiful Marmon car was badly damaged, both fenders and a wheel taken off, when it was struck by the street car. A sedan parked, seemed partly to blame, although undoubtedly the driver was careless in trying to "squeeze" through with the street car in full view. A crowd of two or three hundred people soon gathered, and was forced to make way for the wrecker which came very promptly.

FIND STILL IN RIVER

The Fox River Paper Co. cleaned out their flume at No. 2 mill last Sunday.

There was about a car load of gravel, coal, wood, tin cans, rubbers, shoes and one much battered copper still was in the collection.

Evidently the authorities were hot one some ones trail and they disposed of the still by throwing it into the river.

The high water this spring brought down more dirt and gravel than it has in year.

HEART IS IN RIGHT PLACE

The other day I saw a group of little lads playing in the City Park. They were scuffling and caps and mittens were flying in all directions. The smallest of the group got the worst of it for he tripped and fell and one of his shoes came off. His companions paid no attention to his cries and went on through the park. A fireman came along just then and seeing the little fellows plight, picked him up and sat down on the curb with him. He dried his tears, put on his shoe for him, buttoned up his coat, and picked up his cap. Soon the little fellow was all smiles again and perched on the fireman's shoulders, they were chatting as they went away.

Wanted a Home or a House

This may sound unusual, but this is what we want.

A house completely furnished, where six or eight young business men can make their home. They will pay all of the expenses of running the house, including the rent. They also want some lady, preferably an elderly lady to keep a room or two in the house and take complete charge in the capacity of housekeeper.

In answering this advertisement please state the location of your house, whether you will be able to take complete charge of it, furnish meals and give approximate cost of same.

NO WONDER HE WAS FUSSED

While in Manawa yesterday morning we went into an ice cream parlor. The clerk (who by the way was a young man) was much excited while waiting on us.

We were much interested in finding out the cause of his discomfiture. By watching his reflection in the mirror we spied him putting in his false teeth. After that he was all smiles.

MUST HAVE BEEN ASLEEP

Monday noon the flagman at the Onondaga Chicago and Northwestern railroad crossing let down the gates to let a switch engine pass. When they were down a bakery delivery truck approached from the south. It was traveling slowly but the driver evidently did not see that the gates were down and crashed into them, breaking one gate.

Flat braids that often give striking effects.

Beautiful hand embroidery gives deft touches of color.

Lingerie vests of net and lace are now seen on many new frocks.

Colorful facings of contrasting fabrics appear on cuffs and collars.

Narrow silk ribbon is sometimes used in place of silk thread for embroidery.

Duvetyn vests and facings give color.

Cording is one of the newest trimming ideas.

The use of many buckles, in polychrome, metal, and plain dark "ivory" continues to be an outstanding feature. Metal clasps for collars are now coming into use.

Straight panniers and side panels are equally good this season.

The Smartest New Models

Display Straight-line Styles--Coat Frocks--Gowns that fasten at the side are New

These low prices bring the smartest styles of the entire season—the newest fashions of New York. The conservative frock is straight-line, and belted. Equally good is the style that carries the fabric around to the side, and fastens it there with a beautiful buckle. The coat frock is the newest mode to find enthusiastic favor in large cities. Draperies at the side, and many straight panniers are used frequently in these extraordinary frocks.

Man-Tailoring Makes Many Frocks

Where extreme simplicity is desired—we have secured man-tailored frocks that depend for their effect on severe lines and beauty of tailoring. One such frock of navy twill uses only a set of silver clasps at the throat for a trimming note. The man-tailoring marks it with distinction.

The Prices are Very Low

At the beginning of the season, such prices for such gowns would have been impossible. Now we are able to offer exclusive styles at these three very low prices. The result is unusual value in every instance. Never have such beautiful dresses appeared in such variety at so low a price.

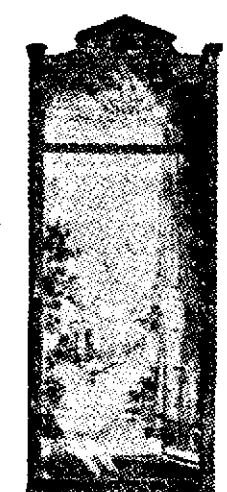

—Second Floor

These beautiful frocks are shown in all sizes from 16 to 46—and in styles for every type. They are extraordinary values.

PARENTHOOD WILL BE FIRST SUBJECT OF PEOPLE'S FORUM

Dr. Emanuel Sternheim To Speak In Lawrence Chapel
Sunday Evening

There is scarcely a parent of children in Appleton who does not have some problems concerning the bringing up of this generation, which thinks that it can bring itself up better without much help from the experiences of the past. Dr. Emanuel Sternheim, who will open the Forum program at Lawrence Memorial chapel on Sunday evening is going to talk on "Twentieth Century Parenthood," and will have some very interesting ideas along the subject of bringing up children.

While Dr. Sternheim has been one of the most influential Jewish rabbis in the country, he is a firm believer of the exchange of pulpits for the promotion of religious fellowship and has occupied many Christian pulpits since coming to America from England in 1909. Wherever he has been, Dr. Sternheim has been prominent in connection with settlement and social work and has done a great deal of lecturing throughout the United States. He is equally popular with Jewish and non-Jewish audiences.

The Schola Cantorum, a small group of picked voices from Lawrence Conservatory of Music, will make its first appearance on Sunday evening to furnish music for the Forum program. This group is making a special study of church music under the direction of Carl J. Waterman.

ROBBINS' MESSAGE GETS TO PEOPLE

Raymond Robbins, who is to be the first lecturer in the Community Lecture and Artist series at Lawrence Memorial chapel on Friday evening is a constructive orator. While he has knocked about the world a good deal, he has had opportunity to learn many of the social evils and political injustices which are undermining society. Unlike many men who have had his experiences, Mr. Robbins has remained calm for these evils.

While the speaker has been called the greatest lay preacher of the country, he reaches his audiences with the language of the people and of the street rather than that of the pulpit. He is a polished orator whose addresses are filled with the light and shadow of burning truths mixed with wit and humor.

Beauty Dazzled Royal Eyes

According to history, royalty has a keen and discerning eye in matters of feminine beauty. This is Mlle. Frea, Parisian actress, whose beauty won the approval of the King of Spain and the Shah of Persia when these two monarchs were recently in the French capital.

Rainbow Garden Party

About 600 persons attended the Halloween party at Rainbow Gardens Tuesday evening and several hundred others were turned away for lack of room. The gardens were decorated with candles, witches, picture paper and other Halloween decorations. Special costumes were worn by the musicians and the entertainers, the latter giving several Halloween dances, such as ghost and scarecrow dances.

Appleton Toy Company One Of Oldest Plants In Fox River Valley

First Toy Factory Was Built In 1882—Present Company Car-
ters To Exclusive Toy Trade

From the time that the toy and furniture company at the foot of South Division-st shut down on every cold winter day for lack of proper heating facilities and operated only when it had orders to fill, up to the time the present owners can say they never are obliged to close because of lack of business, some thirty or forty years have passed.

The piece of property on which the Appleton Toy and Furniture company is located has an interesting history, if one cared to outline it, noting the time it passed with other grants from the Menominee Indians to the United States government in 1831, the transfer to Walter L. Newberry in 1835 the acquisition of it by Edward West and his associates from the Fox and Wisconsin Improvement poses, and the ultimate purchase by Michael Bauer and Daniel Walters in 1882 for the purpose of starting a toy factory.

START NEW COMPANY

Excelsior and toys were products of this company. The business was conducted in a 50 by 60 foot building. Six years later the factory and the 25 horsepower waterpower were deeded over by Mr. and Mrs. Bauer to the Union Toy and Furniture company. W. F. Saecker was connected with the company.

In 1888 the directors were R. W. Kloesch, now of the Appleton Chair company, A. L. Urban, J. A. Schwab, N. M. Edwards, A. E. Whitman and William Pollock, one of the organizers of the Eagle Manufacturing company. Toys of all kinds were made. Two small buildings were added by the company. One measured 30 by 40 feet, the other 40 by 50 feet. The business was taken over on July 8, 1899, by P. B. Hammel, son of former Mayor Hammel, and Julius Kahn under the name of the Appleton Toy and Furniture company. Business was conducted as a co-partnership until Feb. 3, 1904, when it was incorporated with Julius Kahn as president, Albert Levy of Iron Mountain, vice president, and P. B. Hammel, secretary and treasurer.

Mr. Hammel served in this capacity until his death in 1910. His interest was maintained by his wife until about five years ago when Mr. Kahn bought out the Hammel interest.

When Bauer and Walters operated the plant, they manufactured a variety of toys, such as children's wagons, wheelbarrows, carts, hobby horses, doll buggies, etc. The Union Toy and Furniture company carried on practically the same lines. The present owners, however, began to specialize in children's chairs and rocking horses and in porch furniture and worked up a thriving business in these two lines. It sought to manufacture the highest class of toys and catered to the exclusive toy and furniture jobbers.

PLANT IS ENLARGED

When the Appleton Toy and Furniture company took possession of the plant, about 25 men were employed. It now employs about 85 hands and

HERBS USED IN MEDICINES

A Manchester, England, paper urges the renewed cultivation of old fashioned medicinal herbs in English gardens. In the United States they have also gone out of fashion as a feature of the small garden, although they are imported in large quantities from Turkey, India and China, where they are grown purely for commercial purposes, as their medicinal value is recognized by many leading physicians. Tons of medicinal herbs are used annually in the preparation of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most successful medicine for woman's ailments. It contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and women afflicted with such ailments should try it.

has enlarged its plant to a three-story paint shop and ware house of 110 by 40 feet and a two-story factory of 170 by 74 feet.

It has utilized the waterpower, which is probably among the oldest in the Fox River valley, from the start except for the half year or more when the locks were rebuilt. Power was generated by steam during this interim.

The output of the company has grown to an average production of 400 to 500 children's chairs a day and 75 to 100 rocking horses a day. These are the chief products of the fall season, while the manufacture of porch furniture is the main business in summer.

Its products are shipped in car load lots from its side tracks adjoining the plant. A total of 2,000,000 feet of oak, birch, bass and rock elm lumber is consumed annually in the manufacture. One of the specialties is a de luxe children's sled which is handled chiefly by high class houses such as Marshall Field, Rothschild and F. A. O. Schwartz, the largest toy store in the United States.

Present officers of the company are Julius Kahn, president and treasurer; Mrs. J. Kahn, vice president; Herbert M. Kahn, secretary.

WANT AMERICA TO PARTICIPATE IN NEAR EAST PARLEY

Board Of Commissioners For Foreign Missions Requests Action

A plea for American participation in the conference soon to be held to determine the future of Turkey and the Near East was made in a resolution adopted at the one hundred thirteenth annual meeting of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions which was held in Evanston, Ill., and which was attended by several Appleton men. The resolution was sent to President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes.

The principal reasons for American participation in the conference were stated as follows:

"Because of the vast investment of American life, effort and capital in religion, educational and charitable institutions amounting together to much more than 100,000,000 dollars. The American vested interests exceed the similar vested interests of the other eight nations combined invited to participate in the conference. We have reason to believe that these investments are in jeopardy and that unless the united states defends in the conference the long enjoyed rights and privileges of its nationals, including religious liberty, American efforts and investments covering more than a century of American enterprises will be sacrificed and the Turks given to understand that no Americans are sacred."

"Because thereby America will be able to throw the weight of her influence on the side of the preservation of civilization in the Near East and to assume a position of normal leadership against government by atrocity."

WOULD BAR AUTOS IN BIRD HUNTING

Amendment of the hunting laws to prohibit shooting of partridges and prairie chickens from autos, and forbidding the use of machines while hunting, is recommended by fish and game wardens throughout the state to the state conservation commission, W. E. Barber chairman of the commission announced.

The commission sent to the wardens questionnaires relating to hunting of partridges and prairie chickens and the replies show the deputies are practically of the same opinion on most of the questions. The answers indicate that both partridges and prairie chickens are plentiful and that there were more hunters this year than a year ago. The wardens recommended that the law be not changed with regard to use of dogs in hunting and that there be no change in the law fixing the bag limits. The deputies also urged amendment of the law forbidding shooting of the birds within four rods on either side of the highway.

APPLETON LEADS IN STAMP SALES

Treasury Certificates Find Sale Here, Postal Reports Show

Appleton leads Wisconsin cities of 20,000 to 30,000 population in the amount of government treasury savings certificates that have been sold through the postoffice from Jan. 1 to Oct. 1. The amount sold was $51,107. Although it was first in the state, it ranked twelfth in the district for cities of this class. The district comprises Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Iowa. An unfavorable showing was made by many of the larger cities of the district. Some cities in the 50,000 to 100,000 class, such as Racine, Davenport, Lansing, Gary, Saginaw were far behind Appleton in this respect.

Following is a list of the leading cities in each class with their amounts subscribed: Cities of 5,000 to 10,000—Marshfield, $56,600; cities of 10,000 to 20,000—Wausau, $33,100; cities of 20,000 to 30,000—Oshkosh, $18,527; cities 40,000 to 50,000—Kenosha, $20,512; cities 50,000 to 100,000—Racine, $21,866; cities over 100,000—Milwaukee, $594,872.

NEENAH SONGBIRD CHARMS AUDIENCE

Lillian Sindahl's Recital At Madison Was Admirably Received

Miss Lillian Sindahl of Neenah, a graduate of the Lawrence Conservatory of Music, was well received by the Woman's club of Madison where she appeared in recital recently.

This is what a Madison paper had to say about the program:

"Possessing a lyric voice full of joyous sparkle, Miss Sindahl displayed judgment in the selection of her program, the larger part of which consisted of light, airy, pleasing themes. Her voice had sweetness and power but lacked the roundness and color that are demanded in an opera like 'Mignon'."

"In the light of two tall tapers flickering from the polished surface of the piano, and dressed in pale blue hoop skirts, pantalets and a picture hat with a cluster of deep red roses under the lace, Miss Sindahl sang a group of old favorites, 'Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes', 'My Laddie', 'Billy Boy', 'When You and I Were Young, Maggie', and an encore number, 'Ach, the Dear Little Girl'."

Seek Information On Habits Of 1,000 Young People In High School

Questionnaires Search For Data On Personal Habits Of Students--Throw Light On Spare Time Activities

In order to get some idea of the way the thousand or more high school students spend their time and money as a whole, not as individuals, a questionnaire has been prepared at Appleton high school, asking the students for information concerning themselves. The assembly periods on Wednesday and Thursday will be given over to the filling out of the questionnaire. The students will be impressed with the importance of being truthful and accurate because each false statement makes the statistics unreliable and therefore valueless.

The student will be asked when he gets up in the morning, when he starts from school, what he does or has to do in the meantime, what he does during the fifth period if he is excused from school, what he does after school before supper and what he does after supper and the time that he usually goes to bed. All this information will be charted and graphed to show the habits of more than one thousand high school students in the city.

The questionnaire seeks information concerning athletics, recreation and activities. The student is asked whether he plays football, basketball, where he plays and whether with organized or unorganized teams. He is also asked whether he plays tennis, wrestles, boxes, hikes, roller skates, ice skates, rides a bicycle and whether he belongs to the Boy or Girl Scouts. Then he is asked whether he goes camping, hunting or fishing. He is asked about attendance at movies, at vaudeville, at musical comedies and drama, at public dances, professional baseball, football games and boxing and wrestling matches.

A few questions are asked in regard to music. The student is asked whether he sings regularly aside from the training given at Appleton high school, whether he has been trained to sing or to appreciate music, whether he plays a musical instrument and whether he was trained to do so.

WANT STATE TO CHANGE DEER HUNTING REGULATION

The deer season this year opens Monday, Nov. 13 and closes Wednesday, Nov. 22. Only bucks at least one year old may be shot. Shooting deer at night with the aid of a light is prohibited.

W. E. Barber, conservation commissioner, predicts the present law concerning deer will be changed by the next legislature. He said a conference will be held soon between the conservation commissioners of Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin to see if an agreement cannot be reached on open seasons on important game so that they will coincide. Their recommendations will be presented to the legislature for ratification.

BEAR CREEK-RO TO BE COMPLETED SOON

Completion of the concrete pavement on highway 39 from Clintonville to Bear Creek Corners, is expected by the end of this week providing weather conditions are favorable. Joseph McCarty Construction Co. which is doing the work finished the north end of the pavement a week ago and now is on the Bear Creek end. About 500 feet of concrete is being poured daily.

The construction company has been badly handicapped during the summer by railroad conditions which held up freight shipments, and by the fact that the state highway engineer's office which furnished the cement found it difficult to get materials.

RE-ENLIST IN THE RED CROSS
The American Red Cross spent more than $12,000,000 last year to relieve and prevent suffering in peace and in war, at home and abroad.

It has kept its pledge to the men who fought in the World war. During the past twelve months, it has spent more than $9,000,000 in bringing comfort and care to the 30,000 disabled veterans in hospitals and in keeping their families from worry and privation. This has required the services of 50,000 volunteer workers.

In addition to caring for our own war sufferers, the Red Cross has helped to assure the future of the world by establishing a reconstruction program in Europe. A system of medical, educational and social work for the children of the stricken countries was organized, and these countries were taught to carry this work forward on their own account. The Child Health program of the Red Cross in Europe was completed June 30, 1922. But the Junior Red Cross still has commitments involving a limited program supported by American school children.

Disasters caused by fire, flood and other catastrophes occurred in nineteen states at home during the past year. More than $9,000,000 was expended in rendering immediate aid to multitudes of suffering and homeless people.

The American Red Cross is a volunteer army of more than 1,000,000 American men and women. It never fails. Re-enlist in it during the annual Red Cross Roll Call, November 11 to 30, 1922!

RADIO FUTURE
A New York city department store has just sold 350 "Western Electric receiving and broadcasting stations" at $4.95 apiece. This was at a special sale. The outfits are described as "Built for the U. S. navy. Adopted by the U. S. government as standard. Now in successful use on government ships. Sets that have never been used." This sale is significant. It is the forerunner of best-grade radio at a low price. The ad offering these sets for $4.95 says "the estimated cost of producing these sets today is $15.65, and the estimate is conservative." The production cost, however, will be reduced eventually. Cheap radio of the best grade is inevitable. Watches were almost prohibitive in price to the average man until Ingersoll set out to make them for a dollar. So were autos, until Henry Ford put on his thinking-cap.

Another prophetic vision of radio's future comes from Wellesley, Mass., where Roger Babson, business expert, backs a movement to build a "wireless community church." In this church, at different hours each Sunday, religious services for various denominations will be conducted by radio. For instance, Baptists would get their service 10 to 11 in the morning, then would follow hours for Methodists, etc. What Mr. Babson has in mind is eventually a national radio service by which isolated communities will get the best music and the best preaching available. The services will be picked up in the homes by other millions of people, when high-grade radio outfits become cheap.

Man's greatest invention is the art of communication. Its first form was speech. People began coming out of their separate and individual caves and congregated in small settlements as soon as they were able to exchange ideas and disarm each other's suspicions by exchanging words. Writing was the next great invention, enabling people to communicate over long distance. Then came printing. With it, the germ of real civilization. Next was the telegraph, evolved from the primitive system of communicating long distances by relays of tom-toms or puffs from beacon fires. The telephone came close on the heels of the telegraph. Now it's radio.

SENTENCED TO READ BLACK BEAUTY
Municipal Judge John F. Haas, of Chicago, sentenced James O'Donald, president of a teaming company, convicted for cruelty to animals, to read "Black Beauty," perhaps the most popular animal story ever written. On Nov. 4th, Mr. O'Donald must pass an examination, in court, on this compelling novel. Judge Haas has hit on a form of sentence, which, if more generally adopted by our courts, would do more permanent good than punishment. After all, it is not enforcement of penalty that helps society, but preventive and corrective measures.

SANITATION
Most people would not place the sewers in the category of preventive medicine and yet Paul Gerhard, one of our leading sanitary engineers, has shown how sewers can be made effective in controlling the flu epidemic and Dr. J. Allan Gray, an Edinburgh surgeon, holds that a direct relation exists between defective drains and the control of diphtheria.

Perhaps it is because it is easier to dig sewers than to change popular habits in personal hygiene that sanitary science is so far ahead of individual practice in health matters. Sanitation will be more closely related to individual habit if the lessons it offers are heeded. Everyone likes to buy biscuits "made in sunlit rooms under sanitary conditions." Pride in the day's work rises with the sanitary standards of the work place. The inferiority complex of the "under dog" is largely the effect of certain invidious external conditions, easily open to remedy.

But it is not only humane considerations that promote the practice of sanitary science—the public health problems of a whole community may be identified with the pernicious effects of a single industrial process. Water supply from a tile pipe line improperly related to a sewer caused eight hundred eighty-two cases of typhoid fever in three months in the Salem, Ohio, epidemic. The irritable skin infections peculiar to printers are remedied by suitable cleansing of the hands. Tuberculosis is kept from specific occupations by comparatively simple sanitary measures for dust removal and adequate air supply. Sanitary prevention in every case being much cheaper than medical cure.

Adequate sanitation requires the service of experts, but it also requires an intelligent public. Engineering projects must always give thought to the needs of the tomorrow. Communities are everywhere out-growing their water supplies or their drainage systems. Schools and homes are built or remodeled on lines that violate all tenets of sanitary science and—in one state at least—excellent ventilating systems are required by law but are not required to be used after they are installed.

Different sections of the community differ as much in their sanitary codes as individuals do in their sanitary practices. Health Week may well serve as a get-together week when experts and a suffering public can confer on their mutual problems and can face a mutual responsibility for all unfavorable sanitary conditions.

OUR NATIONAL ROTUNDITY
Beede was and the threat of a gasoline famine horrifies the American more than "getting fat," while the horror of horrors, to put it crudely but plainly, is the fear of acquiring a prominent stomach. Consequently the National Life Insurance Company must have known it would cause a sensation with announcement that there has been an inglorious development of our "national rotundity" in the past few years.
A study of the American male convinces the company's observers, to be quite blunt and brutal, that he has too much paunch, that he requires longer belts and sits under the steering wheel of a lizzy with greater difficulty. They tell us that since men quit rubbing off vest buttons against structures of mahogany they have eaten too much candy and too heavy meals with disastrous results. In other words, as we get them, if the American male wishes to be thin he must modify the popular present-day practice and quaff more freely of the cup that cheers.
We will try not to reconcile this advice with recollection of the splendid bay windows of pre-Victorian days and for the sake of being duly horrified over a new national calamity accept the company's finding without question. However, the man who finds himself going to exaggerated rotundity may realize some consolation, if not a delicious grin, from recent assertions to the effect that American women also have been "putting on flesh." They are said to be more bony than formerly, and collectively they may be reminded of this terrifying truth but not singly and individually. HOUSEHOLD TINKERING FOR BRONCHITIS
As I have already said, most of the cases of "cold settled on the chest," are not at all what they seem, not on or in the chest at all, but rather trouble in the upper respiratory tract somewhere, say in the windpipe or the larynx (voice box) or the region of the adenoid body. The cough causes more or less soreness felt deeply in the chest (muscle lameness) and the victim jumps to the conclusion that the trouble is deeply seated. In young children, who react to simple coryza or an acute adenoiditis with considerable feverishness and general upset, it is a common thing for parents or perhaps too practical nurses to assume that the trouble is bronchitis.
Whether it be real or imaginary bronchitis, there are certain household measures which will do no harm and may do much good if properly and promptly applied. I hate to use the misleading and inaccurate term, but these remedial household measures are intended for any acute illness which may be dubbed "cold on the chest." One of the good purposes served by popular first aid and home remedies is to keep the innocent bystanders so busy that they may not do too much harm before the doctor arrives. On that principle, any comparatively harmless treatment I may suggest here should help to protect the victim of the alleged "cold" from being plied with alleged "cold cures" or "cough cures."

The home treatment I would recommend, if medical care is not to be had, embraces the following:
1. A hot mustard foot bath administered to the patient in bed, never sitting up.
2. A homemade mustard paste, two hand size, applied to the chest, watched and removed as soon as the skin underneath reddens distinctly. For children a rubbing of the chest with freshly prepared camellia oil instead.
3. Large drinks of hot lemonade or any other wholesome hot beverage.
4. Regular doses every two hours, a tablespoonful for adults, a teaspoonful for children, of m. s. as I may blushing admit, famous cough medicine which is practically fool proof and sometimes actually beneficial. Here it is:

Citrate of soda.....One ounce
Glycerin.....One ounce
The juice of a lemon.
Whole flaxseeds.....One teaspoonful
Water.....One pint
Spirits (oil) of peppermint. 4 drops
Steep the flaxseeds (do not boil) in the water for 20 minutes. Strain and add the other ingredients. For a child some sugar may be added if additional sweetness is desired. The medicine may be used for a few days, but seldom does any good when continued longer than that. Its positive virtues, aside from the negative one already mentioned, are in medical terms that it is diuretic, diaphoretic, alkaline, sedative, expectorant—but don't be alarmed by that. In ordinary language it gently aids the elimination through kidneys and skin, opposes the acidosis and acid intoxication of acute feverish states, soothes the irritated mucous membranes of the breathing tract and helps to loosen and aid expectoration.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Cold Sponge Baths
For several years the writer has taken cold sponge baths shortly after arising each morning. These have always seemed invigorating with a radiant reaction afterward. Some friends tell me it will cause rheumatism.—C. G. B.
Answer—Don't let your friends worry you. The baths never do any harm, so long as they produce a pleasant reaction.

Washing the Baby
A says a 15-month old baby should be bathed every day. B says that is weakening and once or twice a week is often enough. If A is right, how long should the daily bath last?—(Mrs. B. J. R.)
Answer—A is right. After the baby acquires control of the emunctories, a bath twice a week is sufficient, except in hot weather, when the little ones should always have tepid or cool baths once or twice daily. The daily bath should last about five minutes in winter.

Sighing
Does sighing indicate a weak heart? I sigh a great deal and different people have told me it is a bad sign.—Miss B. M.
Answer—No, but it often indicates lack of sufficient oxygen, say from lack of daily exercise, or from anemia.

Patterning Foods
Is a diet of cabbage, eggs, green beans, chipped beef (dried beef), fish and whole wheat bread fattening?—(Mrs. S. A.)
Answer—Not particularly. Of course it depends on how much you eat.

Resume of American and Foreign Newspaper Opinion

NOT IMPRESSIVE IN ROLE OF GIANT KILLER
When Attorney General Daugherty "filed his brief in defense of the conduct of his office," as one writer calls his recent campaign speech in Ohio, he exposed himself to a fire of criticism from papers all over the country. The picture he draws of "a nation in the grip of civil war" by reason of the railroad strike is not taken seriously by the press, while his "single handed suppression of the insurrection" by means of an injunction calls forth distinct caustic comment on his method of "giant-killing."
The PHILADELPHIA PUBLIC LEDGER (Ind.) believes that "sound opinion in this country approved" the issuance of the injunction against the striking shopmen, but that "it will not approve the reasons the Attorney General offers in defense of it." Certainly Mr. Daugherty "should be able to defend the injunction," the ASHEVILLE TIMES (Ind.) thinks, "without indulging in fantastic exaggeration."

Evidently however, "Mr. Daugherty feels, with some reason, that he is on trial at the bar of public opinion," as the NEWARK NEWS (Ind.) puts it, and the WATERBURY REPUBLICAN (Rep.) goes on to say, "he is laboring hard" to justify himself. In the opinion of this paper "the fact that he feels called upon to justify his injunction is pretty good proof that there was something radically wrong with it.... What the trouble was Mr. Daugherty pretty clearly defined in his words to labor: You make a mistake when you set up rules in conflict with the rules, laws, and Constitution of our common country." It is just as much a mistake when an attorney general gets an injunction that offends in the same way.
As a matter of fact, the ADRIAN (Mich.) TELEGRAM (Ind.) says, the injunction could not have been directed against "mutiny," because "there was no law compelling the men to accept the wage award," and the "real fault," as the BALTIMORE SUN (Ind.) dems, sees it, is that "the injunction policy, finally adopted, attempted to outlaw and to smash a strike chiefly on the ground that it had been fairly successful in its main purposes. For two previous months the right of the shopmen to maintain the existence of the union, but the right of the shopmen to conduct a successful strike suddenly was challenged in the courts. If Mr. Daugherty had read the Transportation Act he would know," the NEW YORK WORLD (Dem.) thinks, "that the railway unions have under its terms the legal right to strike against the board's decision" and "if he had read the Constitution he would know that labor cannot be conscripted in the United States at least not yet—not even railroad labor. In this connection the PHILADELPHIA PUBLIC LEDGER is inclined to believe that 'surely, in whatever law school he attended, there must have been some lecture on the Constitution; and he must have heard that instrument mentioned occasionally as he journeyed through life, for he is not a young man.'"

If you concede the existence of the "evil war," which he points out, the NEWARK NEWS concludes that "you admit that Mr. Daugherty became a second Lincoln overnight by the simple expedient of obtaining a court order so sweeping as to leave such question as to its constitutionality." The AKRON BEACON JOURNAL (Rep.) however, is "indebted to the learned attorney general for a new idea."
"Heretofore even fair lawyers have assumed that the injunction was altogether a civil remedy," it says, "Now we learn that it is the one sovereign remedy for civil war. Had this been generally known the world would have been saved infinite trouble and expense. Instead of sending Major Robert E. Lee to Harper's Ferry to capture John Brown and turn him over to the civil authorities of Virginia, the attorney general should have got out an injunction against him. Indeed one wonders why Abraham Lincoln did not get out an injunction against Jeff Davis and why Beauregard and Jackson were not enjoined from misbehaving themselves at Bull Run."

Taken seriously, however, the DETROIT FREE PRESS (Ind.) thinks that "Attorney General Daugherty makes an exceedingly grave charge which has no visible justification and which is distinctly out of harmony with the general belief" when he applies the terms "revolt" and "mutiny" to the walkout of the railroad shopmen, "for no matter how unfortunate the strike may have been, and no matter how mistaken people may believe it was, it was perfectly legal." The ridiculous lengths to which Mr. Daugherty goes in trying to bolster up and justify a sad error in judgment, and his general classification of everybody who has dared to criticize his injunction as "rebel" are no less than outrageous. He uses the same lone Postmaster-General Burleson used to employ.
In effect, the Fort Wayne JOURNAL GAZETTE (Dem.) contends that "this address is a laborer attempt to divert the public from his signal refusal or failure to prosecute the powerful corporations that have been indicted by federal grand juries for violations of the anti-trust law," and the KALAMAZOO GAZETTE (Rep.) concedes, "he assuredly did not succeed in quieting the enemies who have charged him with inexcusable inactivity in the prosecution of war profiteering cases." While the Michigan paper is confident that "there is no general disposition to be unfair to the attorney general," it feels, nevertheless, that "if the issues that have been raised concerning his probity and the honesty of his intentions could be tried and be definitely settled one way or the other, the public interest would be better served than it ever can be by the continued hurrying of charges, counter charges, and stump oratory."

So far as stump oratory is concerned however the PITTSBURGH PRESS (Ind.) insists that "no voter should assume that Daugherty speaks for the Republican party, for he does not."

WILL NOT CED DODECANESE TO GREECE
Rome—Signor Schanzer has officially notified the Greek Minister in Rome that, in view of the forthcoming Peace Conference, Italy considers the agreement signed by Signor Tittoni and M. Venizelos relative to the cession of the Dodecanese Islands to Greece as invalid.
Although the statement only confirms what was already known, it is significant that Italy has officially asserted her right to these islands at a moment when suggestions were being made in certain quarters that the Greeks might be compensated for the evacuation of Thrace by the cession of the Dodecanese.
The twelve islands of the Dodecanese were occupied by the Italians during their war with Turkey in 1912; Stampalia (Astropalia, or Astypalea) on April 22; Rhodes on May 4; Calymno (Kalymnos) on May 10; Kasos (Kasos) or Kaxos, Sarpanto (Karpantos, and Charki on May 12; Nisiro (Nisyros), Tilos, Leroy, and Patmos on May 13; Symi on May 15; and Cos (Istankio, or Kos) on May 22, in that order.
By the Treaty of Lausanne these islands were temporarily retained by Italy as a guarantee of Turkish good faith in executing the provisions of the Treaty relating to Libya, in Northern Africa, and by the unratified Treaty of Sevres they were ceded in full sovereignty to Italy. On May 14, 1920, it was announced in Athens that a supplementary treaty all the island except Rhodes were to be transferred to Greece, and it was understood that this was in return for concessions made in favor of Italy by the Greeks in the drawing of the southern boundary of Ionia, which bordered on what was then considered to be the Italian commercial sphere in Asia Minor. Pending the ratification of the Treaty of Sevres, the Italian occupation was to continue.
During their administration of the islands the Italians had effected a number of improvements, and earned the gratitude of archaeologists by the care which they devoted to the celebrated medieval remains of the Knights of Jerusalem in Rhodes. The inhabitants of the Dodecanese, however, made a number of protests against the Italian occupations, and on several occasions manifested a desire to be annexed to Greece. During the previous Turkish administration nearly all the smaller islands enjoyed a large measure of fiscal autonomy in virtue of privileges accorded by various Sultans. For some time in the Great War Leroy was used as a minor British naval base.

SOME "UP TO DATE" KNOCKING
London—According to the Express correspondent in Cook, County Durham, people in the village of Stanley, near Crook, are more distressed by a strange knocking than ever was the porter of Macbeth's castle.
"Here's a knocking indeed. If a man were porter of hell gate, he should have become old turning the key. Knock, knock, knock! Who's there, i' the name of Beelzebub?"
Stanley has asked the porter's question with a fearful awe since the mysterious knocking began in a cottage inhabited by two young married couples, Mr. and Mrs. H. Hutchinson, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson. The cottage stands in a row of similar dwellings named Old Moore's Cottages. The story of the knocking began some weeks ago.
Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson and Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson, soon after going to bed were awakened by the second sound of knocking. This was not ordinary knocking. It was not at all ways in one place, but travelled over the house, as it were, in an arc. It grew louder and louder, and finally seemed to beat at the house with sledge-hammer blows.
The husbands left their beds to investigate. They visited every quarter of their home, but could find no clue to the knocking.
They told the story in the village, and when their vehemence had subdued all derision some of their acquaintances agreed to assist them in seeking the author of the noise.
Night after night a watch was kept in the cottage. Night after night the knocking went on. Policemen and neighbors formed a cordon round the cottage all night, but nobody appeared and nobody left the house.
William Morton and George Morrison climbed into the garret and searched it from end to end while the knocking was in progress one night. They found no clue.
Spiritualists held seances, and an earnest woman, declares that immediately her daughter, the medium, was "under control" they came in touch with "bad spirits."
The medium tells a vivid story of "a big man" beckoning to her, of being suddenly swept off her feet and carried upstairs into a bedroom, and then finding herself standing at the foot of the bed where the knocking was most persistent.
What is the secret of the knocking?

No Slowing Down

The timid—fearing prosperity is too good to be true—get out their telescopes and search the business sky for clouds. You hear many wonder if "there'll be a slow-down this fall."
Wise men at the head of the steel industry, weather-vane of general business do not seem to think so.
Shipments of iron ore, down the Great Lakes from the mines, so far this season are three-fourths bigger than in the corresponding period a year ago. Steel men would not be building up their stocks of ore unless reasonably sure they will need it this winter.
U. B. Chase Jr., in a New Orleans contest, is declared champion crawfish eater of the world. He ate five bucketsful weighing 60 pounds in the shell. The speed record goes to George Luthy, who devoured 100 crawfish in two and a half minutes.
This may be unimportant news, but it would be a dull world without people like Chase and Luthy. Back of events like the crawfish tournament, you see the American sense of humor and safety-valve.

Manning American ships with American citizens is just as important in building up a merchant marine, as having the ships under the American flag.
So you approvingly chuckle "Okeke!" at this news: The Shipping Board reports that in 12 months it placed 84,782 officers and men on American ships. And 92 out of 100 of them were American citizens.
What is the most terrible situation you could get in? Few worse than being imprisoned in a mine, by cave-in. The suspense is agonizing not knowing whether help is coming or not.
Uncle Sam, working with mine owners, is introducing portable wireless receiving outfits which miners will carry with them. Through tons of fallen rock, radio will carry the glad news: "Cheer up! Rescue is at hand. Almost supernatural."

LAFOLLETTE NEEDS HELP
Editor Post-Crescent—In the advertising matter of our honored citizen and congressional nominee appears (to us) the amusing statement, "LaFollette needs Schneider." Why does he need him? To help inflate his political machine of course. The senator or senator being at outs with the present and past administrations and virtually thrown out of the Republican party, would it not have been more appropriate to have added to enhance LaFolletteism and oppose the president. If our senior senator is, as they claim, a friend of labor why did he before the primary turn down an try to defeat with a personally selected Nominee the only bona fide labor candidate for congressional honors in the state. The latter having beaten his opponent in the primary is now acceptable to the higher ups or will, if elected, be subservient to an at once drafted into the ranks for exploiting LaFolletteism and all under the Republican label.

Q. How large must a workshop be to be known as a factory? C. L. B.
A. In modern usage the term factory covers any establishment with its buildings and equipment, used for the manufacture of goods. The legal definition, however varies widely in different states, but is usually based upon the number of workers. One such extreme definition makes a factory "any place where two or more persons are engaged in working for hire or reward in any handicraft." C. D. Wright's definition reads: "A factory is an establishment where several workmen are collected for the purpose of obtaining greater and cheaper conveniences for labor than they could procure individually at their houses; for producing results by their combined efforts which they could not accomplish separately; and for preventing the loss occasioned by carrying articles from place to place during the several processes necessary to complete their manufacture. Another distinguishing mark of a factory is the ownership of all the tools or implements of production by the employer."
Q. With what force does water expand when frozen? A. J. T.
A. A brass globe whose cavity is an inch in diameter may be burst by filling it with water and freezing it, and the force necessary for this effect is 27,220 pounds.
Q. Which has the better eyesight a bird or a human being? J. R. McM.
A. The power of vision attains its highest development among birds, which possess both the keenest and the most far sighted vision.
Q. What is meant by Fabian tactics? E. P.

NO EASY TASK TO GET IN THIS VAULT

Tests Show New Vault Of Kaukauna Bank Is Practically Burglar-Proof

Kaukauna—Directors and employees of the Farmers and Merchants bank were present Monday evening at an interesting test in Herman Mueller's workshop to determine the strength of the material to be used in the vault door which will be established in the bank's new quarters. Mr. Mueller, who is an expert in the use of the acetylene torch, conducted the experiment. Samples of the metal that makes up the vault door were set together in regular form and the flame of the torch applied. The first layer of oven heated steel and the second layer of drill proof steel were easily penetrated by the tremendous heat. The third layer, however, which is flame resisting and is prepared according to a secret formula of the safe company withstood the heat.

The two top layers were then removed and the gas torch was applied directly to the flame resisting material. After a half hour's attempt to pierce it, the material showed hardly a dent where the heat had been applied. The experiment was planned to determine to just what extent the vault will be burglar proof.

EVERY OTHER FARMER IN STATE OWNS A CAR

Every other farmer in Wisconsin owns a motorcar.

Figures made public by the United States census bureau showed that 49.6 per cent, or 92,738 of the 189,295 farms of the state, have motor cars. Many of the farm-owners have more than one car, as the total number of farm-owned motor cars is 98,825.

In the nation as a whole, only 30.7 per cent, or 1,979,564 of the 6,448,356 farms, possess automobiles.

Two and one-tenths percent of Wisconsin farmers own motor trucks as compared with a national average of two per cent. There are 4,044 motor trucks on 3,893 farms in Wisconsin.

Four and eight-tenths percent of Wisconsin farmers have tractors, as compared with the national average of 3.5. Wisconsin farm tractors total 9,092.

Telephones are possessed by 59.1 per cent of the Wisconsin farmers, as against a national average of 39.9 per cent.

ONLY 20 VOTERS REGISTER TUESDAY

Row Between Election Board And Mayor Is Ended Quietly

LITTLE PROSPECTS OF GRAIN FROM RUSSIA

"Exportation of grain from Russia this year is in the highest degree unlikely," says Dr. Lincoln Hutchinson of Berkeley, Calif., special agricultural investigator for the American Relief administration who has just returned to London from Moscow. It was on Dr. Hutchinson's investigation of last winter that the A. R. R. based its relief measures for the Ukraine and trans-Caucasia, and he has recently been making trips through the Volga valley and Ukraine with the object of assessing the present harvest.

In spite of an adequate crop for the whole country there will be localized shortage areas in both the Volga valley and the Ukraine. Dr. Hutchinson declares. Whether these areas will be supplied by those with surplus crops, depends on the system of distribution. Dr. Hutchinson says there is no danger of a repetition in Russia of the famine of last year.

Industrial Harmony Promotes Better Service

LABOR controversies are productive of needless loss to employe, employer, and to the public. This basic fact has long been recognized by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and is one reason why the Company has stressed the necessity of industrial harmony within the organization. It knows that through such harmony it can render the public a better service, and that by rendering such service the Company, its employes, and the public will profit.

In the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) every man earns his job; none inherits it. Every man has confidence in the knowledge and experience of his superior. Every employe knows that when he has earned promotion he will be advanced, for this is the time-honored policy of the Company, and, naturally, creates a spirit highly favorable to excellence of service.

Every member of the Board of Directors of this Company holds his position because of his experience and because he possesses specialized knowledge of the oil industry. From the Chairman of the Board to the man who fills your tank at a Standard Oil Service Station, every employe is inspired by a real desire to make the Company of the utmost service to the community.

Industrial harmony within the organization is the goal toward which the entire organization is striving. Every man and woman knows that such harmony works for happiness and contentment, promotes efficiency, and increases their power for service.

Industrial harmony means industrial progress. Industrial progress is made through co-operation, not through antagonism; through peace, not through controversy; through conservation, not through dissipation of energy.

Industrial harmony inevitably results in profit to the public by reducing the prices at which commodities may be sold. This is well exemplified in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

The conditions obtaining in this organization are not accidental; they are largely the result of a sane, constructive program "which avoids the foolish waste of radical experiment, the costly breaches of economic law, the unhappy consequences of social injustice."

NOT MUCH KICK IN HALLOWEEN SPORT HERE LAST NIGHT

Police Report Little Destruction Of Property—Few Windows Soaped

It was a quiet Halloween. That was the unanimous verdict of celebrants and victims alike. And now property owners will breathe easily again for another twelve months.

Modest Halloween parties held indoors have taken out much of the "kick" of the oldtime rampages when vandals tore down small buildings, put chairs on telephone poles, pushed wagons into the rivers, and carried away gates and porch steps.

Little children seem to prefer "spooky" games played at parties held at churches, schools and private residences to the wanton destruction of property that their fathers were guilty of.

CATCH A FEW BOYS

A sharp watch was kept by an augmented police force and two motor vehicles besides the motorcycle were kept in readiness to answer any call. Only a few runs were necessary Thursday evening and few boys who were taken to the station were dismissed with a warning.

Up until 10 o'clock in the evening there was even no evidence of window soaping, but it appears that some young men returning home from dances had their sport at a later hour. Yet the number of windows that were soaped this year were few.

Only one false alarm was turned in and one hydrant was opened. Tombstones at the monument works at Appleton and Harrison streets had been rolled into the street. Benches of the city park were removed to the street. The chute at Columbus school was upset and the janitor of Franklin school was seen Wednesday to be clearing up the yard after the pranks. The school zone sign at St. Joseph school and a parking sign at Walnut street were torn down.

All in all, Halloween vandalism has decreased in recent years partly because there is less to tempt the young folks and partly because they have a substitute in other forms of amusement.

VOTERS TO PASS ON 3 AMENDMENTS

Election On Nov. 7 To Determine Changes In State Constitution

While what little interest there is in the general election, November 7, naturally centers about the contests between individual candidates for state and county offices, considerable importance is attached to the referendum on three proposed amendments to the state constitution. All three amendments have been approved by the 1919 and 1921 legislatures and are now ready to be acted upon by the voters at large.

The first one is an amendment to give the legislature power to provide by law that in civil cases only, the votes of a specified number of the jury less than all, but not less than five-sixths, shall be sufficient for a valid verdict. Under present statutes, a verdict in both criminal and civil cases must be based on the votes of all the members of the jury in order to be valid. The proposed amendment would not change the status of jury verdicts in criminal cases.

The second proposed amendment would, if passed, give sheriffs the right to succeed themselves in office at the end of their 2-year terms. At present, sheriffs in office are ineligible to hold the office of sheriff for two years next succeeding the termination of their terms.

The third amendment, coming up for referendum vote would give cities power to become indebted an additional five percent on their assessed valuation in order to provide money for the purchase of public utilities. The debt limit for cities is now five percent.

BELIEVE ROBBERY PROMPTED ATTACK

Sheriff Will Take Ernest Ehrgott To Waupun To Serve Two Years

Sheriff Peter G. Schwartz probably will leave Thursday morning to take Ernest Ehrgott of Neenah to the state penitentiary at Waupun where the prisoner will serve a two-year term for assault with intent to do great bodily harm.

Ehrgott committed the assault upon Robert Henry of Shiocton on the Darboord Saturday night after he had been given a ride in Henry's automobile. Henry could not state with what he had been struck on the head, but the deep gash on the man's skull and the fact that a pair of pliers were later missing seemed to indicate that this had been the instrument of attack.

The court was of the opinion that the motive of the assault was robbery. Ehrgott previously served 18 months in the reformatory for burglary at Neenah.

"LAST OF THE LIGHT BRIGADE"

Cedar Rapids, Ia. — Ellis Cutting, sole survivor of the famous "Charge of the Light Brigade," rode unscathed through that gallant but futile action—to be hurt by a snow plow near here.

Today, 68 years after the immortal execution of blundered orders, Cutting, 85, is alive and alert. He recalls as though it were yesterday the charge at Balaklava in which he participated as a youth of 17, the charge Tennyson's poem immortalized.

With the Crimean war in progress—Britain and France allied with Turkey against Russia—the Russians attacked the allies at Balaklava Oct. 25, 1854, hoping to cut allied communications.

The "Heavy Brigade" of British cavalry made a furious charge, swept back the attackers and drove them back behind their own artillery.

BLUNDER APPARENT

The "Light Brigade," commanded by Lord Cardigan, then received orders to charge these cannon and prevent their removal. For cavalry, mounted and armed with lances and sabers, to charge cannon was plainly suicidal. Lord Cardigan read the order, questioned the aide delivering it, the latter, Captain Nolan, waved his arm down the valley toward the Russian cannon.

"Forward, the Light Brigade," commanded Lord Raglan. Unquestioning, the 600 troopers galloped forward, guidons flying, sabers flashing.

Beyond the allied lines, Russian artillery fired point blank from three sides into the gallant horsemen. Captain Nolan, bearer of the note to charge, suddenly dashed across the front of the charges, possibly to avenge the troops from the death trap. A shell made him the first to fall.

GUNS ARE TAKEN

Straight at the enemy guns out in front rode Cardigan's command. The numbers dwindled rapidly as converging cannon fire swept them.

The guns were reached, silenced. Small parties even attacked the cavalry behind. But a battle against such overwhelming odds could only end in annihilation. Other cavalry arrived in time to hold the ground won by the Light Brigade.

Most historians say a third of the Light Brigade survived. Cutting, though, says only six came out alive. Lord Cardigan was one of these.

"I can't describe it, it's beyond me," says Cutting. "We were swept through that hell of fire and death hearing nothing, knowing nothing, feeling nothing but a desire to reach the Russians."

"Everybody hoped to pick a man. All I thought was to get him first."

ACTIVE TODAY
"Instead of rushing in cavalry, Lord Raglan ought to have ordered an infantry maneuver. That would have saved hundreds of brave boys."

Cutting later served in the British army in Indian mutinies, in the Lucknow siege, in Egypt and in South Africa. The only wound he received was a bayonet thrust in one foot.

Coming to America, he became a fireman on what is now the Rock Island, was promoted to engineer six months later and served until pensioned in 1910.

Forty years ago, he was thrown 60 feet by a rotary snow plow, and sustained several broken bones. Aside from that, he has never been hurt in railroad work.

"Poin Tim" Cutting, the railroader, call him all over the Rock Island system. He reads newspapers without his glasses, and he walks two miles or more every time he goes down town from his home.

Rev. B. M. Bridges Gives Facts In His Case

It is doubtful if there has ever been a medicine endorsed by so many ministers of the Gospel as has Tanlac. Indeed, there is scarcely a faith, creed or denomination in all the land in which one, or more, of the clergymen has not publicly expressed their indebtedness to the Premier Preparation for the benefits they have derived from its use.

One of the latest to speak out in this connection is Rev. B. M. Bridges, a widely known and beloved Baptist preacher, residing at Moosereboro, N. C., whose statement follows:

"Tanlac has given me a good appetite, toned up my system and renewed my strength in such a gratifying way that I am glad to recommend it to anyone who is in a rundown condition. For ten years past I have had such a severe case of indigestion that I could not find anything to eat that agreed with me. Finally I became very nervous and could get but very little sleep or rest."

"It seems that I took nearly everything trying to get myself right, but nothing helped me until I ran across Tanlac. My nerves are so much better now that my sleep is sound and refreshing. I enjoy my meals and have also gained weight. I can say from experience that Tanlac is a splendid medicine and tonic, for it has built me up wonderfully."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists, adv.

SCOFFS AT DUCK CREEK SCHEME TO LOWER FOX RIVER

Oshkosh Attorney Declares River Improvements Have Helped Land Owners

That opening of the Neenah and Menasha sluice gates in the spring would be detrimental to government and private property and that the Duck Creek drainage canal projects as a means of reducing the high water is out of the question, were the statements of Attorney Moses Hooper, speaking before the City club of Oshkosh last week.

"If the Neenah and Menasha sluices had been opened during the flood of last spring," he said, "and wiped out all the government works and bridges and private property clear down to Green Bay, as everyone who investigated agreed it would have done, who would have been responsible? The government could have sued the water power users."

ONLY A BABY RIVER

Mr. Hooper gave a geographical account of the Fox river, which he termed a "baby river," not being more than 2,000 years old, and which was sent through this route to the Great Lakes by some disturbance of the earth. The water originally found an outlet by the Wisconsin and Mississippi rivers.

The project of a water route connecting the west with the east was taken up by the government, but was abandoned when it became impossible to cope with the shifting sand.

"Today navigation is negligible," Mr. Hooper said, "while waterpower is an important factor. Thousands of tons of coal are saved and it is possible to produce cheaper paper. More than 1,000 men are employed and nearly 50,000 persons in the lower Fox river valley are dependent upon the waterpower industry."

"Would it be wise to destroy a dam? Because a riparian farmer believes in his hand will produce a few more acres of cabbage if the water course were to be restored to its original condition. And would it actually help if no improvement had ever been made to the Fox river, especially just below Neenah, where the channel was deepened and obstructions removed to facilitate the movement of the stream? Engineers say no."

CITY HOME RULE ISSUE NOT DEAD

The legislative program of the Wisconsin League of Municipalities which convened in Appleton last June will be outlined by the legislative committee shortly after the November election and presented to the state legislature, according to H. MacGregor of Madison, secretary of the league.

It is expected that the committee will consider the question of amending the law which would confer upon the fire and police commissioners the power to retire on pensions the chiefs of fire and police departments after they have served the required 22 years. The commissioners are not authorized to retire a chief unless written charges are preferred against him. The matter was to have been taken up at the convention here, but was not reached.

Another matter that is more than likely to be considered again is the constitutional amendment for home rule for cities.

FURS AND MYSTERY By A. CARSTENSEN Furrier

Two skins seldom worn in America except by those who wish something a trifle "loud" are those of the leopard and the perwitsky. The leopard is a native of Africa and possesses a decidedly brilliant skin marked from head to tail with ten or a dozen lines of irregularly shaped spots, other black or dark brown in color. Between the spots the color of the fur varies from white to brown. Skins light golden in tint are preferred for use in the making of coats, collars, muffs and trimmings and is decidedly expensive.

Asia furnishes us with the skins of the perwitsky, one of the smallest fur-bearing in use. Its body is about eight inches in length and has a bushy tail over half as long as its body. Its head closely resembles the domestic kitten but in the coloring of its fur it resembles no other animal.

The fur on its back and halfway down its sides is pale yellow marked with irregular blotches and lines of brown hair. On this part the skin the fur is short and not exceedingly plentiful. The under portions of its body and its tail are densely covered with a soft, downy brown fur.

While the usual caten of the perwitsky is usually small it is occasionally quite popular in the United States as a novelty fur.

Asia also furnishes us with palmi skins which are about twice the size of the perwitsky skins and light brown in color. Many thousands of these skins are annually imported by fur manufacturers in this country who fluff it a cheap, but fairly good imitation of other.

Every corner of the globe is searched to find skins which can be used as imitations of the better grades of furs.

Beware of the Wolf in Sheep's Clothing.

The Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company of Appleton will be required to pay a tax of $63,487 to the state in 1923, according to an announcement by the Wisconsin tax commission. The traction company was assessed $3,000,000. The rate of taxation has been fixed at .0216239.

The Wisconsin Public Service company of Green Bay will pay $66,661 on a valuation of $3,150,000, and the Eastern Wisconsin Electric company of Oshkosh, will pay $95,520 on a valuation of $4,500,000.

COUNTY HOLDUPS LINK IN CHAIN

Police in northern Wisconsin are watching for what appears to be a highly organized and very elusive gang of robbers, who for several weeks have burglarized ten banks in this part of the state, three of which were in Outagamie county.

Starting from Bear Creek and then working through Shiocton and Oneida, the bandits seem to have planned a tour of northern Wisconsin and upper Michigan peninsula. Menominee apparently missed the depredations of the burglars last week Tuesday, but Hermanville, near there, had its bank robbed of $100. Humbird, Wis., was the next to suffer when the vault of the First State bank there was robbed Thursday. Fosses from that town are scouring the north woods in search of the bandits.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush Your Kidneys Occasionally If You Eat Too Much Meat

No man or woman who eats lots of meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Too much meat may form uric acid, which clogs the kidney pores so that they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood; then you get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of swelling, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoon in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to help neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus often ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink, which everyone can take now, and then to help keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby often preventing serious kidney complications. adv.

Ends Hunting Season to Prevent Forest Fires

Because of a serious outbreak of forest fires Governor Baxter of Maine issued a proclamation suspending the open season for hunting and prohibiting the carrying of fire arms in the woods.

Governor Baxter realized the seriousness of the fire menace and took immediate action to prevent the spread of this destroyer of life and property.

Every individual in the United States, young or old, should also do his share in fighting this terrible agent of destruction. You owe this to your country, your community, your family and yourself. Let's all work together to fight this great public peril.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters has prepared a booklet on fire prevention which should be in every home. This booklet is free. To obtain a copy simply fill out and mail the coupon below, enclosing two cents in stamps for return postage. Write your name and address clearly.

STATE OF WISCONSIN County of Outagamie

TO THE ELECTORS OF OUTAGAMIE COUNTY:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a General Election for State and County Officers is to be held in the several towns, wards and election precincts in the County of Outagamie on the first Tuesday of November, A. D., 1922, being the seventh day of said month, at which the officers named below are to be chosen. The name of the candidates for each office to be voted for, whose nominations have been certified to this office, are to be given opposite the title of the office and under the proper designation, each in its proper column.

Information to Voters

The following instructions are given for the information and guidance of voters: A voter upon entering the polling place, and giving his name and residence, will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk, which must have endorsed thereon the names or initials of both ballot clerks and no other ballot can be used. Upon receiving his ballot, the voter must retire alone to the booth or compartment, and prepare the same for voting. A ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking a ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for.

If the ballot be spoiled it must be returned to the ballot clerk, who must issue another in its stead, but not more than three in all to any one voter. Five minutes' time is allowed in booth to mark ballot. Unofficial ballots or memorandum to assist the voter in marking his ballot can be taken into booth and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter. After it is marked it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen, but so that the printed endorsements and signatures of the ballot clerks on the outside may be seen. Then the voter should pass out of the booth, or compartment, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box and pass out of the voting place. A voter who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have assistance of one or two election officers in marking the same, to be chosen by the voter, and if he declares that he is totally blind he may be assisted by any person chosen by him from among the legal voters of the county. The presiding officer may administer an oath, in his discretion, as to such person's disability. The party designations and candidates for the different offices are, for example, as follows:

NEENAH DAM MUST BE LOWERED, U. S. INSTRUCTS OWNERS

Flashboards Must Not Maintain Water Level Above Dam At Menasha

Owners of the Neenah dam have been ordered by the head of the engineering corps of the war department at Washington to remove all flashboards on the Neenah dam that raises that structure higher than the Menasha dam.

The dam is to be reduced to the same level as that of the Menasha dam. The Neenah dam is privately owned largely by waterpower interests operating the paper mills there. The order comes as a result of a hearing obtained by riparian land owners after damage done by high water last spring. Lowering of the Neenah dam will allow water to pass over to reduce the damage in future years, it is believed.

BUY WINTER SPUDS NOW, FARMERS CRY

Week Of Nov. 6 Is Set Aside As Potato Week By Governor Blaine

The week of Nov. 6 to 11, Monday was, designated Wisconsin Potato week and potato users are urged to buy their winter supply during that period in an effort to relieve the farmers of the state and to take advantage of the prevailing low prices.

Governor Blaine has given his indorsement to the movement while the state department of markets, the Wisconsin Motion Picture Theater Owners association and the Wisconsin Potato Growers association prepared to actively promote it.

Hundreds of motion picture theaters in the state will herald the week on their screens urging patrons to buy potatoes now. Action is declared necessary to avert ruin for many potato growers of the state.

The decision to set aside potato week for immediate buying of potatoes was made by the state department of markets and potato growers when it was found that markets were glutted with Wisconsin stock and that consumers were holding out. Wisconsin produced over 37,000,000 bushels this year, which is the largest crop ever produced in the state.

OXFORD CONSIDERING COURSES FOR AGED

London, Jelly old chappies of four-score years and ten, frolics on the Oxford playing fields, and doddering septuagenarians loling in cushioned punts on the upper reaches of the Thames, may realize if the plan for the entry of the old as well as the young to the famous English university is carried out. The suggestion is that a college be established for adults as Rusking College was established for the education of men from trades unions. Such a college, it is pointed out, would be a haven of refuge for extra mural activities of the university, and would enable many adults to carry studies which they started under the extension course idea and which they have been unable to complete.

JAZZ PLAYERS OF U. S. INVADE GREAT BRITAIN

By Associated Press
London—The recent influx of American jazz bandmen to supply music for the constantly increasing numbers of British who have succumbed to the fox trot has had the effect of spreading considerable alarm among English musicians, many of whom claim to have thereby lost their jobs.

Recently there have been numerous representations to the home secretary alleging that American musicians have been allowed to enter England in violation of the alien restriction act. It is claimed that a large number of American jazzers have come here posing as students or tourists, while they already have contracts in their pockets calling for large salaries, some as high as 50 pounds a week.

Musicians' unions are considering a campaign to boycott all hotels and music halls employing alien jazz players to the exclusion of the British. The unions claim to have the support of the British legion.

The craze for American jazz dancing in London has reached wide proportions as is witnessed by the large number of advertisements in daily papers listing instructors in latest ballroom dances, and the many places furnishing jazz music.

NATURALIZED AMERICANS STILL MISSING IN RUSSIA

Moscow—Scattered about Russia are about 46 "lost" persons whose relatives claim for them American citizenship, and for whom search is being made by representatives of the American Relief administration. Since the A. R. A. entered Russia a year ago one of the conditions being that all American citizens who desired to quit the country should be permitted to do so, 214 persons who had established their American citizenship have left. Most of them for the United States. Late in September there were about 100 other persons awaiting completion of the necessary repatriation operations. In many cases these require weeks, and often months, owing to various routine matters connected with passport requirements.

Evening Classes Give Appleton People Fine Chance To Better Selves

Vocational School's Night Students Take Keen Interest In Their Work—Classes Spread To Ward Schools

Evening classes in Appleton Vocational school have become so popular the school has found it necessary to establish sections in six of the eight ward schools, to accommodate persons taking the courses. Even now almost at the beginning of the year the enrollment of 500 in the evening classes exceeds the daily attendance by one hundred persons. This enrollment in the night school average about the same as it did last year as this time.

Practically every course offered in the day classes is offered at night with the opportunity given adults in the wide variety of work to improve in their profession or take new work. Classes are given in any desired subject if ten persons signify their interest in the class by enrolling. Small classes are preferred for there is so much actual shop work in most of the courses that more persons cannot be easily accommodated.

Night classes are held in the Vocational school five nights of the week and in the ward schools used for the purpose, two nights of the week. The use of the grade schools is a big help in the maintaining of so many evening classes for two reasons—the lack of sufficient shop room in the Vocational school building and the ease with which many people may attend by having the class in their community.

The vocational school is a veritable work shop as one evening in the building will show. In the home economics department, there are as many as twenty different sewing classes offered, all of which are attended by married women and business girls who desire such training and are unable to devote time to it during the day. Classes are given in the fundamental processes of elementary sewing to the most advanced work. The students are taught to draft their own patterns as well as how to use commercial ones. In the drafting of patterns the hand and eye both are trained to greater accuracy and the eye to a keener appreciation of lines. It aids in a better understanding of the construction of garments and a better use of commercial patterns. Darning and mending are taught as well as all sorts of stitches. One of the important courses in the advanced classes is the care and use of machine attachments.

The millinery classes put out some beautiful work in accuracy, neatness and color combinations. As a trade it is attractive because of the scope it offers for test and skill, so much time is laid upon that phase of the work.

Many interesting things are learned in cooking classes which provide for the health and general welfare of the family. Much stress is laid on the attractiveness sanitation and seasoning of the food since it must appeal both to the sight and taste if it is to nourish the body. Canning fruits and making jellies is an important part of the departmental work.

One of the recent features in the home economics department is the night class in china and oil painting. The work itself is interesting and the attractive articles which can be made add to the enjoyment of the course.

Of the academic subjects offered English is the only one taught at night and in it the classes include mostly persons who have never had any English, and who wish to learn to speak the language. One class is given in beginners' English and two classes in more advanced students.

The commercial course is quite popular and offers classes in bookkeeping, typewriting, penmanship and show card writing. The electrical department has a class in house wiring and a course is given in mechanical drawing and shop mathematics.

A number of classes in cabinet making meet at night and the work done in this department equals much of the work in the home economics courses. The furniture is turned out with great care and when finished is quite beautiful. All of the work is done from blue prints which are accompanied with a small free hand drawing of the project. A regular course outlined by the State Board of Vocational Education is followed, enabling the students to turn out a wide variety of work. The furniture made by the students is sold either to persons outside the school or to the makers themselves.

In all the courses, demonstrations fill an important part of the class program. Students are taken to observe the actual everyday work in industrial plants where they may see the methods they are taught in class carried out in a practical way.

W. S. Ford, in lamenting the fact that the vocational school is already crowded for lack of room, said "the development of the vocational program is so rapid it is impossible to anticipate the progress far enough in advance to make sufficient allowances."

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a valuable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

RADIO IN EVERY FARM HOME, AIM

State To Transfer Market Broadcasting Station From Madison To Waupaca

A wireless receiving outfit in every Wisconsin farm home is the objective of the state department of markets as it commences the enlargement of its wireless market reporting service. The department is now constructing the master wireless market reporting broadcasting station of the state at Waupaca.

When this station is completed early in December every farmer in Wisconsin will be able to get reliable market reports by radio within a few minutes after prices are quoted in the larger markets of the country.

Four market broadcasts are to be sent each day with summaries twice a week. Markets to be covered are on livestock, dairy and poultry products, fruits and vegetables and hay and grain. In addition a daily mimeograph bulletin is to be distributed to all who apply for it.

As soon as the Waupaca station commences work, the Madison market reporting service will be discontinued. The Waupaca office is centrally located in the state and its wireless reports can be heard all over the state. This has not been possible at Madison for farmers in northern Wisconsin were unable to hear them.
